President Sees '71 Foreign Gains, Losses

By LEWIS GULICK
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon issued a lengthy foreign-policy report today, claiming dramatic 1971 breakthroughs toward his generation-of-peace goal, but acknowledging a half-dozen "sharp disappointments."

The President also used his annual "State of the World" message to Congress this election year to urge public support for his handling of pressing foreign-affairs problems ahead.

Saying the diplomatic policies of the past year will be a springboard for the future, Nixon indicated historic agreement on a first step in curbing the U.S.-Soviet nuclear-missiles race will be reached about the time he visits Moscow in May.

At the same time, the President coupled avowed hopes of improving U.S.-Soviet relations with serious questioning of the "expansionist implications" of current Russian diplomatic and arms policies.

Nixon's 94,000-word account of global affairs portrayed 1971 as a "watershed year" for his administration's long-term peace efforts.

The President mentioned his forthcoming visits to Peking and Moscow, new economic relationships with European allies and Japan, and "creation of a new environment for the world's monetary and trade activities."

Nixon also: —Said his Peking journey starting next week will not resolve quickly deep U.S.-Chinese differences but will end "a sterile and barren interlude... between two great peoples" and "will represent a necessary and giant step toward the creation of a stable structure of world peace."

—Reported his greatest disappointment in 1971 was failure to negotiate an end to the Vietnam war. He said an agreement can be reached "when Hanoi distinguishes between a settlement and a surrender."

Sheriff, Deputies Nab 3 Burglary Suspects Tuesday

Three Franklin County men are in Pickaway County jail Wednesday morning awaiting this afternoon's preliminary hearing on charges of breaking and entering and committing grand larceny in the night season at a Pickaway County home.

Sheriff Dwight Radcliff, with the aid of four deputies and County Commissioner Wayne Hines, picked up two of the suspects Tuesday night and arrested the third man Wednesday morning in their Columbus area homes.

They recovered five television sets, eight rifles and shotguns, five radios, two record players and several smaller articles to culminate their raid.

Sheriff Radcliff commended Pickaway County residents for their increased surveillance of suspicious occurrences.

THE three men arrested were apprehended after three separate witnesses supplied the Sheriff's Department with the license tag number of one of the getaway cars after a house burglary Monday.

Radcliff, Deputies Don Thompson and J. Phillip Brown, and Commissioner Hines, acting as an undercover agent, traced the men to a West Jefferson home Monday but made no arrests.

Working alone Tuesday, Radcliff made contact with the suspected thieves and sent for aid.

DEPUTIES Bill Dountz and Dave Cooper joined Brown, Thompson and Hines in making the arrests.

Two men, John Ives and Larry Lee Jenkins, were apprehended at their Hilliard home Tuesday night, and the third, Noah King, was arrested at his 877 Derr Rd. residence, on Columbus' Hilltop, early this morning.

Await Order On Troopers

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — The director of Alabama's state troopers says he will wait until a written order is issued before replying to a federal judge's instructions to integrate the all-white trooper force.

Col. W.L. Allen, head of the Department of Public Safety, said he had no comment Tuesday following a ruling from the bench by U.S. District Court Judge Frank M. Johnson, Jr. Johnson said the trooper unit must be 25 per cent black.

A formal order from Johnson was expected later this week.

In calling for integration of the trooper force, which has been all-white throughout its 37-year existence, Johnson said Allen's department must hire one Negro for every new white employee to meet the 25 per cent black ratio.

The only other Southern state without Negro highway officers is Mississippi, and legal action has been filed challenging it.

Taft Votes Against Dock Strike Motion

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Robert Taft Jr., R-Ohio, voted with the minority Tuesday as the Senate voted 42-39 to table an amendment to legislation aimed at ending the West Coast dock strike that would set up a permanent system of dealing with crippling transportation strikes.

Concern in Washington that the agreement might not be ratified by the dock workers caused the Senate to push through a strike-ending bill Tuesday and the House to schedule action on one today.

High-Income Tax Returns Are Audited

No Taxes Paid; Reports Indicate Some Errors Made

WASHINGTON (AP) — Many of the 112 high-income persons mentioned as escaping 1970 federal income taxes may hear from the tax collector after all a congressional staff study says.

Chairman Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., of the House Ways and Means Committee, read the report into the record of a Rules Committee meeting Tuesday. Members had questioned whether the 1969 tax reform effectively closed tax loopholes.

At Mills' direction, tax specialists checked the returns of the $200,000-a-year individuals in question and found that Internal Revenue Service audits now under way may show that as many as one-third of them owe taxes.

Of the 112, the report said, eight show mistakes or misinterpretations that take them out of the category entirely.

Of the remaining 104, six paid no U.S. taxes because they paid as much or more in foreign taxes, the study said.

Twelve others were free of federal tax because of large deductions for state tax payments; 13 had large charitable deductions, and 55 had large interest deductions, the report continued.

"We suspect that in many of the 55 cases the interest deduction involved represents interest attributable to an investment, in which case it is properly subject to tax," the report said.

Among the remaining 18 returns claiming a variety of deductions, the report continued, two list very large theft losses which will be examined carefully and another reports large gambling winnings, offset by gambling losses.

Thieu Affirms His Opposition To Red Coalition

SAIGON (AP) — President Nguyen Van Thieu has reiterated his opposition to Communist political activity in Vietnam despite President Nixon's eight-point peace plan that would allow all political factions to take part in elections.

Vietnam Press, the official government news agency, published Thieu's remarks made Tuesday night at a ceremony in which the president distributed gifts to police widows and orphans.

Thieu once again reaffirmed his "Four No's"—no land concession, no Communist political parties in South Vietnam, no neutrality and no coalition. He said that if one of the Four No's is abolished, South Vietnam would be lost to the Communists.

The president said all national problems must be decided by the South Vietnamese. He added that the main task of the people is not to let the Communists take over, either by military or political means.

3rd Carrier Joins Strike Force

Reds Make 50 Attacks In Vietnam

SAIGON (AP) — The U.S. Command abruptly recalled the aircraft carrier Constellation to the Tonkin Gulf today, raising the strong possibility of intensive retaliatory air strikes on North Vietnam should the Communist command launch an all-out offensive, informants said.

The 76,000-ton carrier cut short a port leave in Hong Kong as the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong made about 50 attacks across South Vietnam today and Tuesday, including the heaviest rocket assault on the Da Nang area in 2½ years.

Although many of the attacks were small scale, it was the largest number in more than four months, and it appeared to mark the start of a pre-Tet highpoint of activity.

The U.S. Command said attacks on American forces also intensified overnight and at least 13 Americans were wounded.

Communiques and incomplete field reports listed at least 37 South Vietnamese killed and 141 wounded. The Saigon command claimed 147 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong killed and 22 captured.

Informants said the Constellation would join the carriers Coral Sea and Hancock in the Tonkin Gulf, forming a 225-plane strike force to attack supply depots and other installations in North Vietnam should the Communist command launch the major offensive that U.S. officials have been predicting for this month. The United States has about 125 more fighter-bombers at Da Nang and at bases in Thailand.

The sudden return of the Constellation was also considered a show of strength to back President Nixon's repeated assurances that he will protect the remaining American troops in Vietnam.

Despite the surge in activity, the South Vietnamese Foreign Ministry issued a communique saying allied forces would observe a 24-hour cease-fire beginning at 6 p.m. Saigon time next Monday for the Tet festival of the lunar new year. Sources said, however, that allied troops would remain on heightened alert and South Vietnamese leaves would be limited.

The cease-fire applies only to South Vietnam. The Viet Cong announced last December they would observe a 96-hour cease-fire for Tet beginning at 1 a.m. Saigon time Monday.

County Commissioners Lead Ambulance Service Meeting

A meeting was held by Pickaway County Commissioners Tuesday night to discuss possible ways and means of providing an emergency ambulance service in the city and county.

The meeting was prompted by a recent request of the four area funeral directors (Mader Funeral Home, Defenbaugh Funeral Home, Bastian Funeral and Kirkpatrick Funeral Home) that they be relieved of the responsibility of providing this service.

Present at the meeting were Robert Gilmore and Martin Alex of the Ohio Department of Health. They discussed funding the purchase of emergency vehicles by the state and operation of ambulance service by various government agencies.

Ross County Given Tract Of Real Estate

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal government is transferring ownership of a 76-acre tract of land six miles north-west of Chillicothe, Ohio, to Ross County for park and recreational use.

The land, a former FCC monitoring station, is among 20 tracts around the country being turned over to local governments under President Nixon's "Legacy of Parks" program.

Presently, Commercial Point Volunteer Fire Department is the only political subdivision in Pickaway County providing an emergency ambulance service.

JOHN Kaiser, a member of the Commercial Point Department, told those present at the meeting that their service was manned on a 24 hour basis completely by volunteers. He said 22 persons, 15 men and seven women, were qualified to operate the service.

During the first year of its operation, 1963, the emergency squad made eight runs. Last year it made 105 runs, of which he said approximately 75 per cent were legitimate emergencies.

A number of methods of providing an emergency service were discussed — a service manned by volunteer and regular fire departments; a service operated by the hospital; a service operated by the Pickaway County Sheriff's Department; contracting with an independent ambulance service; and contracting with the present funeral directors for ambulance service.

The funeral directors stated they definitely wanted to get out of the emergency service because of rigid state and federal requirements being considered. They agreed the cost of complying with the new proposed regulations would be prohibitive.

Eddie Pritchard, representing the Harrison Twp. Volunteer Fire Department expressed an interest in providing a service manned by the volunteers.

However, Hoyt Timmons, representing Pickaway Twp. Volunteer Fire Department, and George Hamman, representing Williamsport Volunteer Fire Department, expressed the belief this would not be practical in their communities.

SHERIFF Dwight Radcliff and Berger Hospital Administrator John Reid both indicated they were not anxious to provide the ambulance service unless they would be assured that such a program would be adequately funded.

Girl Nominees To Annapolis Are Rejected

WASHINGTON (AP) — Navy Secretary John H. Chaffee says two girls nominated to the U.S. Naval Academy won't be admitted because federal law bars women from combat sea duty and the Navy needs its Annapolis graduates for the fleet.

Chaffee coupled his decision Tuesday with an announcement that the Navy will open its Reserve Officers Training Corps to women. The unit at Jacksonville University in Florida will be the first Navy ROTC program to admit women, he said.

"That is just the pilot program, and we are going forward with similar programs at other schools," Chaffee said. Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., and Rep. Jack H. McDonald, R-Mich., who have nominated girls to the Naval Academy, expressed disappointment at Chaffee's decision. Both said they would introduce legislation to get their female nominees in.

Special Y Awards To Be Presented

State Representative Myrl Shoemaker and State Senator Harry Armstrong will receive the YMCA's Highest Award. Both men will be presented the Y's "Service to Youth" award tonight at the fourth annual meeting of the Pickaway County Family YMCA.

For the past three years, both Armstrong and Shoemaker have been instrumental in helping the local YMCA to become a reality in Pickaway County.

Other presentations include the Pickaway Plains Longhouse Recognition Plaque to Chuck Jolliffe and eight service awards to Y volunteers. Included, also, in the evening program will be the Circleville Boy's Choir and an address by Robert Knight, Executive Director, Association of Professional Directors of the YMCA.

New board members and officers of the YMCA will be elected. Following the annual meeting, sweepstakes prizes will be given out to the participants in the 1972 Membership enrollment.

Interstate Route Number Changed

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio Turnpike Commission said today the present Interstate 80s in Ohio and Pennsylvania will be renumbered Interstate 76, effective Oct. 2, to reduce driver confusion.

Allan V. Johnson, executive director of the commission, said approval has been obtained from both federal and Pennsylvania agencies. The Oct. 2 date was selected to give time for distribution of new maps and signs.

The road now known as I-80s runs from the Pittsburgh exit 6 of the Pennsylvania Turnpike west to exit 15 of the Ohio Turnpike then west through the city of Akron, to end at I-71 south of Medina.

Concern in Washington that the agreement might not be ratified by the dock workers caused the Senate to push through a strike-ending bill Tuesday and the House to schedule action on one today.

Tentative Dock Strike Accord Set

The Senate bill, adopted 79 to 3, provides for an immediate end to the strike and the submission of 55 unresolved issues to a 5 member panel empowered to settle them by binding arbitration within 40 days. There could be no strikes or lockouts for 18 months.

The vote came after the announcement in San Francisco of the tentative bargaining agreement. A union committee is to meet Saturday to set a date for the ratification vote and determine whether the 13,000 men on strike will return to work in the meantime.

The fact that the strike will continue at least until Saturday, and could go on after that if ratification fails, prompted Congress to continue with its own legislative solutions.

Congress is shutting down at the end of business today for a Lincoln birthday recess and Democratic leaders don't want to risk having the settlement blow up while Congress is vacationing. President Nixon has been prodding Congress to act since Jan. 21 and sent word after the settlement was announced that he still wants the bill passed.

The Senate bill closely follows Nixon's recommended legislation. The House will be given a chance to vote on the Senate bill under terms of a resolution.

Special Y Awards To Be Presented

State Representative Myrl Shoemaker and State Senator Harry Armstrong will receive the YMCA's Highest Award. Both men will be presented the Y's "Service to Youth" award tonight at the fourth annual meeting of the Pickaway County Family YMCA.

For the past three years, both Armstrong and Shoemaker have been instrumental in helping the local YMCA to become a reality in Pickaway County.

Other presentations include the Pickaway Plains Longhouse Recognition Plaque to Chuck Jolliffe and eight service awards to Y volunteers.

Included, also, in the evening program will be the Circleville Boy's Choir and an address by Robert Knight, Executive Director, Association of Professional Directors of the YMCA.

New board members and officers of the YMCA will be elected.

Following the annual meeting, sweepstakes prizes will be given out to the participants in the 1972 Membership enrollment.

Interstate Route Number Changed

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio Turnpike Commission said today the present Interstate 80s in Ohio and Pennsylvania will be renumbered Interstate 76, effective Oct. 2, to reduce driver confusion.

Allan V. Johnson, executive director of the commission, said approval has been obtained from both federal and Pennsylvania agencies. The Oct. 2 date was selected to give time for distribution of new maps and signs.

The road now known as I-80s runs from the Pittsburgh exit 6 of the Pennsylvania Turnpike west to exit 15 of the Ohio Turnpike then west through the city of Akron, to end at I-71 south of Medina.

String Tied To Debt Limit Approval

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House apparently is poised to approve a four-month extension of borrowing authority for President Nixon's administration—coupled with a warning of trouble ahead unless he moves to close tax loopholes.

The debt-ceiling vote was set for today in the House, with the Senate expected to act later this month.

The bill would raise the borrowing limit from $430 billion—a figure expected to be overtaken by the debt within about three weeks—to $450 billion until June 30. The terms were set by a Democratic-dominated House Ways and Means Committee. It turned down Nixon's request for a $50-billion increase, enough to carry the Treasury well past the presidential election season and to February 1973.

Not satisfied with this, a group of Democratic liberals launched a drive to attach to the measure a requirement that Nixon submit a comprehensive tax-reform program to raise revenues without increasing rates on average taxpayers, and so narrow the looming deficits.

The drive ended in compromise Tuesday. The liberals settled for a stiff letter to Nixon from Ways and Means Chairman Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., calling for Nixon to submit by March 15 his ideas for "further elimination of preferences and so-called loopholes in the federal income, estate and gift tax system."

Appalachian Money Flow To No Avail, GAO Reports

WASHINGTON (AP)—A cautiously worded report from a congressional watchdog agency has suggested the present structure of federal antipoverty efforts may offer no real improvement in Appalachian poverty.

The General Accounting Office Monday released the findings from a study of a lone Kentucky county, but the report cast shadows over the mountainous, poverty-ridden region.

The GAO set out to find what five years and $21.5 million in federal grants had done for rural Johnson County "because it had the typical characteristics of economically distressed areas: high unemployment, low family income, and high out-migration."

The findings were bleak. "The Congress should be aware that, up to the time of GAO's study, extensive federal expenditures had not made a significant impact on alleviating poverty and unemployment in Johnson County," it read.

"In view of the similarity of Johnson County to other economically distressed rural Appalachian region, the observations and recommendations in this report may have applicability to other places," it continued.

The GAO examined the county's progress during the period 1965-1969, finding that the federal government had pumped in enough money to average $243 for each man, woman and child each year.

What then is needed? The GAO decided that the solution is planning and coordination of the entire anti-poverty effort.

"No federal organization has over-all responsibility to coordinate the wide range of federal programs in a specific locality," the report complained.

Specifically, the GAO said the Appalachian Regional Commission, a joint state-federal venture, should become more active in coordination and planning.

Chico Ruiz Crash Victim

SAN DIEGO (AP)—Veteran infielder Chico Ruiz, who played last season for the California Angels, was killed in a highway accident early today.

The California Highway Patrol said Ruiz, 33, was driving alone when his car ran off Interstate 5 and hit a sign pole at between 70 and 80 miles an hour.

Deputy Coroner William Souza said Ruiz was pronounced dead on arrival at Palomar Hospital, not far from his home at Rancho Penasquitos in northern San Diego County.

Ruiz is survived by his widow Isabelle and two daughters. He played with the San Diego Padres when they were in the Pacific Coast League in 1962 and 1963. He later played for Cincinnati and spent eight years in the major leagues.

County . . .

Dr. William Myers, a representative of Mid Ohio Health Board, emphasized the importance of a good emergency ambulance service.

He noted that 30 per cent of all cardiac victims died before they got to the hospital but nearly all of those still living when they arrived at the hospital were saved.

He encouraged those present to establish a county-side service.

In Delaware County, the ambulance service is operated by the sheriff's department. Eighteen additional men were employed by the sheriff's department there to staff the service.

In Knox County the service is operated by the hospital. Men who staff the ambulance service there also work in the hospital. Reid said the operation there was not adequately funded and the hospital was having financial problems with the service.

He told commissioners a good service could be established if adequate funds were provided. He noted it could be operated through the hospital, by the sheriff or other agencies but it was a "dollars and cents proposition." A committee was named by commissioners to study the problem.

Claim Beating Of Retarded Man

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—A lieutenant on the Bedford Heights police force is accused of beating a retarded man he stopped for a traffic arrest in a $600,000 damage suit filed in U.S. District Court here.

Lt. Peter Dixon was sued Tuesday by Henry Dombrowski in behalf of his son, Thomas, 25. The son is described in the suit as being legally incompetent to conduct his own affairs.

The petition alleges that Dixon beat the younger Dombrowski with his fists and a flashlight last Sept. 24 when he arrested him for driving under the influence of a drug.

Political Power For Blacks Seen

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Carl Stokes, who as mayor of Cleveland focused attention on black hopes for political power, says America's Negro leadership has "turned to the realities of power" reflected in the ballot box.

Stokes, who was Cleveland's mayor from 1967 through 1971, says the fact that blacks are "running hard" for positions as state legislators, mayors and county commissioners is a reflection of an awakening political sophistication.

"The two battles facing black people," Stokes told an Ohio State University audience Tuesday night, "are political and economic development. You can't get into the economic process unless you have political power."

Not A 'New' Country

Statements are frequently made to the effect that the United States is a young nation." This rather ridiculous theory claims that America is still more or less a child among the nations of the world, and has much to learn" from the supposedly more mature" countries of Europe.

Measuring age by the length of time a country has existed under a continuous, stable and basically unchanged form of government, the United States is one of the oldest major nations on earth.

But, some will say, America is young because its people are, historically speaking, new and relatively untried. This argument will not bear close inspection. Millions of people in the United States can trace their ancestors back to the Normans. More millions go back to the misty days of the Anglo-Saxons. Other millions share a Roman heritage. The list is endless.

The American people and their government represent the culmination of thousands of years of profound thought and earnest striving. The Capitol building at Washington sets solidly on a foundation of a million years of man's struggle toward his destiny.

There is no need to look to the mouldering "old world" countries for guidance. Many of them exist today only because they were able to receive American assistance.

Suspiciously Restful

Nearly everyone over the years develops some little tricks of relaxation to call forth when the day becomes particularly tedious, when the boss becomes unusually unreasonable or when the kids really outdo themselves.

It may be a coffee break, a breath of fresh air or sitting in a favorite chair with the feet up.

None of these is half as good as lying down on the job. This is the opinion of two authors who have written a book on helpful everyday hints. Lying down, they wrote, helps rearrange one's energy impulses into more positive patterns."

What they seem to mean by this is that because the normal position — whether at home or the office — usually is not lying on the floor, a change of inclination might be good for you. Perhaps. But the Yoga enthusiast long has been saying standing on one's head has a similar effect.

Either way, such relaxing moments are bound to create a new attitude. Especially by fellow employees.

Technology, Lawbreaker

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

Phillip Abbott Luce, who has good eavesdropping sources, says in his Pink Sheet on the New Left that we are in for more trouble with New Left revolutionaries just at a time when almost everyone has been savoring the slack-off in violence.

Mr. Luce is undoubtedly right about the intentions of some of the more frustrated Weathermen types. The dimwit that hid those bombs in the San Francisco bank and then tipped the authorities off to their presence certainly had terrorism in mind. So, too, did the idiot who tried to burn 50 National Guard trucks and jeeps at Santa Rosa, Calif. The important thing, however, is that our society is hardening against witless violence. And along with the hardening there is a growing sophistication about ways of forestalling at least some of the criminals and revolutionaries.

A couple of years ago a faculty committee at Stanford University in California would hardly have dared recommend firing Professor H. Bruce Franklin for supporting violence. But 1972 is a different year. The professor, laboring under the illusion that this was still 1970, tried to rouse the campus when Stanford President Richard Lyman, acting on committee advice, suspended him. Seventy-five New Leftists crowded into the Stanford chapel, shouting "Rehire Franklin." Coincidentally or not, a bomb was discovered in a power station next to the university, and a Stanford housing office was burned. But the Stanford authorities stood their ground and the students failed to rise en masse.

Thus the law of diminishing returns begins to take effect. Even more significant, the defense has begun to catch up with bombers, arsonists and lock pickers. Robert McDermott, a Holmes Protection agency expert who had 19 years with the New York City bomb and loft squad, tells me that the Israelis, out of their experience in dealing with guerrilla terrorism, have come up with something that can detect the presence of any type of explosive by sniffing, so to speak, at such things as the keyway to a strong box. It shouldn't be long before every important bank in America has access to such a monitoring device.

Lock pickers, according to a reasonable estimate, are responsible for some 50 per cent of break-and-entry thefts, and they have been moving out from the central cities into the suburbs wherever there are high-rise apartment houses. The average entry job has been made easy by people who put their trust in standard locks that can be picked by an expert within a matter of minutes. Mr. McDermott tells me that, while a totally pick-proof lock may be difficult to manufacture, anybody can buy one of the better locks that take an hour or more to force. No burglar with any sense is going to stand around in an apartment house hallway, with or without a female accomplice, for upwards of an hour. The chances of detection would be too great; moreover, the opportunity to make a killing by forcing the locks of several apartments in the same building would not be there.

From 1990 to 1970 violent crime increased 176 per cent in the U.S. — or 14 times faster than the rate of population growth. In the same decade automobile accidents killed 475,000 people and injured 17 million others. Automobile thefts can be stopped by simple recourse to alarm systems connected with locked windows, doors and hoods. Dangerous speeders can be apprehended by one-man police cars carrying new spotting equipment that does not depend on radar or prolonged pursuit. The device is called Vascar (for Visual Average Speed Computer and Recorder) and it does its job by what might be called instant triangulation. When a speeding car passes between one stationary object and another, the pursuing policeman's Vascar system records the time and distance involved and the computer comes up instantaneously with the speed. Some states shy away from such devices because they seem unduly sneaky. But meanwhile the traffic deaths mount.

We have the technology to defeat the bomber, the burglar and the speeding law breaker. And as its use spreads, as it must, the criminal will become more and more uncertain of his calling.

Toyota Price Increase Rejected

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Price Commission has rejected a request by Toyota Motor Sales, U.S.A., Inc. to raise the price tag of Japanese Toyota cars by an unlimited amount.

A commission official, in announcing the decision Monday, said the firm's argument for the price hike was rather specious because it failed to list a specific price increase.

Toyota had asked for the raise on grounds that one goal of President Nixon's economic stabilization program is to reduce the volume of imports to the United States and that, if Toyotas were more expensive, fewer Americans would buy them.

FAA Approves Funds For OSU Airport

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Aviation Administration has approved a $1.3 million allocation to the Ohio State University Airport in Columbus.

The allocation, one of a number announced Sunday by the FAA as a part of its airport development aid program, is to be matched evenly by airport sponsors.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN

Speaking of YOUR HEALTH...

by LESTER L. COLEMAN, M.D.

For the past two years I have had a constant ringing noise in my ears. I just can't escape from it. It keeps me from sleeping.

I am in excellent health for my age, which is 72. Is there no way to get relief?

Mr. E. M., Fla.

Dear Mr. M.:
Ringing in the ears is a common complaint in the elderly. The condition, known as "tinnitus," almost always is due to changes in the circulatory system. As we get older, the blood vessels get narrower, and in some cases, tinnitus may occur.

Not all people in your age group need anticipate that tinnitus will follow with advancing years. Many of my patients complain that the noise seems to get worse when they are, fatigued, emotionally upset, or when it is particularly quiet. The noise seems to be masked or hidden when listening to the radio or television.

In addition, there is generally the constant fear that the noise may be the forerunner of a brain tumor, a stroke or deafness. This fear is almost always completely unfounded.

When patients are given the reassurance that the ringing, pulsating or buzzing sounds in their head do not mean trouble, they can cope with this condition.

Tobacco is known to add some spasm to the blood vessels.

Those who smoke might consider stopping in the hope that it will bring relief from tinnitus.

A group of new drugs are now being used to dilate blood vessels. This may hold promise for changing the intensity of these depressing noises.

The Business World

By JOHN CUNIFF

NEW YORK (AP) — Strength in stock prices, more commissions for brokers and some balance of payments relief for the U.S. economy are among benefits possible from what now appears to be an established securities industry trend.

This trend involves foreign investors and their desire to buy stock in U.S. corporations. In 1958, gross foreign purchases and sales of U.S. equities totaled $2.8 billion. In 1971, activity rose to about $23.2 billion.

In the past five years, despite the market downturn, net foreign purchases have been greater than sales, suggesting that still another benefit might be in the form of market stability.

For 1972, the New York Stock Exchange expects a net inflow of foreign-held funds totaling $6 billion, with about $3 billion of that going directly into stocks, the remainder into corporate and U.S. government bonds.

The money flow, therefore, tends to belie foreign criticism of an unbalanced U.S. economy. The facts seem to indicate that many Europeans and other foreigners consider the U.S. economy a good bet.

The likelihood, as foreseen in a study of the situation by the NYSE economists, is for a continuation of heavy foreign investment in the years to come.

True, factors other than the U.S. economy are involved in foreign investment decisions. Political anxiety is cited as one factor; the fact that European investors especially are growing more affluent is another.

In addition, foreign mutual funds and trusts have grown to such a large size that they need multiple outlets for their investment money.

None of these factors, however, forced foreign money in U.S. securities markets. There were other choices available in other countries, such as a fast-growing Japan. But the U.S. markets apparently are viewed as solid, despite its detractors.

NEW YORK (AP) — Remarks that a candidate for a presidential nomination gets tired of hearing:

"You have to admit that it isn't exactly easy to make Phineas Techumseh Weatherall a household name to every voter in America."

Not A 'New' Country

Statements are frequently made to the effect that the United States is a young nation." This rather ridiculous theory claims that America is still more or less a child among the nations of the world, and has much to learn" from the supposedly more mature" countries of Europe.

Measuring age by the length of time a country has existed under a continuous, stable and basically unchanged form of government, the United States is one of the oldest major nations on earth.

But, some will say, America is young because its people are, historically speaking, new and relatively untried. This argument will not bear close inspection. Millions of people in the United States can trace their ancestors back to the Normans. More millions go back to the misty days of the Anglo-Saxons. Other millions share a Roman heritage. The list is endless.

The American people and their government represent the culmination of thousands of years of profound thought and earnest striving. The Capitol building at Washington sets solidly on a foundation of a million years of man's struggle toward his destiny.

There is no need to look to the mouldering "old world" countries for guidance. Many of them exist today only because they were able to receive American assistance.

Suspiciously Restful

Nearly everyone over the years develops some little tricks of relaxation to call forth when the day becomes particularly tedious, when the boss becomes unusually unreasonable or when the kids really outdo themselves.

It may be a coffee break, a breath of fresh air or sitting in a favorite chair with the feet up.

None of these is half as good as lying down on the job. This is the opinion of two authors who have written a book on helpful everyday hints. Lying down, they wrote, helps rearrange one's energy impulses into more positive patterns."

What they seem to mean by this is that because the normal position — whether at home or the office — usually is not lying on the floor, a change of inclination might be good for you. Perhaps. But the Yoga enthusiast long has been saying standing on one's head has a similar effect.

Either way, such relaxing moments are bound to create a new attitude. Especially by fellow employees.

Technology, Lawbreaker

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

Phillip Abbott Luce, who has good eavesdropping sources, says in his Pink Sheet on the New Left that we are in for more trouble with New Left revolutionaries just at a time when almost everyone has been savoring the slack-off in violence.

Mr. Luce is undoubtedly right about the intentions of some of the more frustrated Weathermen types. The dimwit that hid those bombs in the San Francisco bank and then tipped the authorities off to their presence certainly had terrorism in mind. So, too, did the idiot who tried to burn 50 National Guard trucks and jeeps at Santa Rosa, Calif. The important thing, however, is that our society is hardening against witless violence. And along with the hardening there is a growing sophistication about ways of forestalling at least some of the criminals and revolutionaries.

A couple of years ago a faculty committee at Stanford University in California would hardly have dared recommend firing Professor H. Bruce Franklin for supporting violence. But 1972 is a different year. The professor, laboring under the illusion that this was still 1970, tried to rouse the campus when Stanford President Richard Lyman, acting on committee advice, suspended him. Seventy-five New Leftists crowded into the Stanford chapel, shouting "Rehire Franklin." Coincidentally or not, a bomb was discovered in a power station next to the university, and a Stanford housing office was burned. But the Stanford authorities stood their ground and the students failed to rise en masse.

Thus the law of diminishing returns begins to take effect. Even more significant, the defense has begun to catch up with bombers, arsonists and lock pickers. Robert McDermott, a Holmes Protection agency expert who had 19 years with the New York City bomb and loft squad, tells me that the Israelis, out of their experience in dealing with guerrilla terrorism, have come up with something that can detect the presence of any type of explosive by sniffing, so to speak, at such things as the keyway to a strong box. It shouldn't be long before every important bank in America has access to such a monitoring device.

Lock pickers, according to a reasonable estimate, are responsible for some 50 per cent of break-and-entry thefts, and they have been moving out from the central cities into the suburbs wherever there are high-rise apartment houses. The average entry job has been made easy by people who put their trust in standard locks that can be picked by an expert within a matter of minutes. Mr. McDermott tells me that, while a totally pick-proof lock may be difficult to manufacture, anybody can buy one of the better locks that take an hour or more to force. No burglar with any sense is going to stand around in an apartment house hallway, with or without a female accomplice, for upwards of an hour. The chances of detection would be too great; moreover, the opportunity to make a killing by forcing the locks of several apartments in the same building would not be there.

From 1960 to 1970 violent crime increased 176 per cent in the U.S. — or 14 times faster than the rate of population growth. In the same decade automobile accidents killed 475,000 people and injured 17 million others. Automobile thefts can be stopped by simple recourse to alarm systems connected with locked windows, doors and hoods. Dangerous speeders can be apprehended by one-man police cars carrying new spotting equipment that does not depend on radar or prolonged pursuit. The device is called Vascar (for Visual Average Speed Computer and Recorder) and it does its job by what might be called instant triangulation. When a speeding car passes between one stationary object and another, the pursuing policeman's Vascar system records the time and distance involved and the computer comes up instantaneously with the speed. Some states shy away from such devices because they seem unduly sneaky. But meanwhile the traffic deaths mount.

We have the technology to defeat the bomber, the burglar and the speeding law breaker. And as its use spreads, as it must, the criminal will become more and more uncertain of his calling.

Speaking of YOUR HEALTH...

by LESTER L. COLEMAN, M.D.

For the past two years I have had a constant ringing noise in my ears. I just can't escape from it. It keeps me from sleeping.

I am in excellent health for my age, which is 72. Is there no way to get relief?

Mr. E. M., Fla.

Dear Mr. M.: Ringing in the ears is a common complaint in the elderly. The condition, known as "tinnitus," almost always is due to changes in the circulatory system. As we get older, the blood vessels get narrower, and in some cases, tinnitus may occur.

Not all people in your age group need anticipate that tinnitus will follow with advancing years. Many of my patients complain that the noise seems to get worse when they are, fatigued, emotionally upset, or when it is particularly quiet. The noise seems to be masked or hidden when listening to the radio or television.

In addition, there is generally the constant fear that the noise may be the forerunner of a brain tumor, a stroke or deafness. This fear is almost always completely unfounded.

When patients are given the reassurance that the ringing, pulsating or buzzing sounds in their head do not mean trouble, they can cope with this condition.

Tobacco is known to add some spasm to the blood vessels.

Those who smoke might consider stopping in the hope that it will bring relief from tinnitus.

A group of new drugs are now being used to dilate blood vessels. This may hold promise for changing the intensity of these depressing noises.

Is it safe to have dental or other X-rays during pregnancy? Mrs. P.G.M., Mich.

Dear Mrs. M.: It is well known that the fetus during the early months of pregnancy is highly delicate and must be protected from injury, drugs, or any other substance to which it is vulnerable.

The general attitude of doctors is to keep from using any drugs or procedures that may have an unusual effect on the unborn child.

Doctors and dentists are very careful to protect, with lead aprons, the abdominal area if X-rays of the teeth and the chest are taken.

These X-rays, therefore, are well within the range of safety. When other X-rays are urgently needed, doctors carefully weigh the possible risks before suggesting X-ray.

The Business World

By JOHN CUNIFF

NEW YORK (AP) — Strength in stock prices, more commissions for brokers and some balance of payments relief for the U.S. economy are among benefits possible from what now appears to be an established securities industry trend.

This trend involves foreign investors and their desire to buy stock in U.S. corporations. In 1958, gross foreign purchases and sales of U.S. equities totaled $2.8 billion. In 1971, activity rose to about $23.2 billion.

In the past five years, despite the market downturn, net foreign purchases have been greater than sales, suggesting that still another benefit might be in the form of market stability.

For 1972, the New York Stock Exchange expects a net inflow of foreign-held funds totaling $6 billion, with about $3 billion of that going directly into stocks, the remainder into corporate and U.S. government bonds.

The money flow, therefore, tends to belie foreign criticism of an unbalanced U.S. economy. The facts seem to indicate that many Europeans and other foreigners consider the U.S. economy a good bet.

The likelihood, as foreseen in a study of the situation by the NYSE economists, is for a continuation of heavy foreign investment in the years to come.

True, factors other than the U.S. economy are involved in foreign investment decisions. Political anxiety is cited as one factor; the fact that European investors especially are growing more affluent is another.

Toyota Price Increase Rejected

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Price Commission has rejected a request by Toyota Motor Sales, U.S.A., Inc. to raise the price tag of Japanese Toyota cars by an unlimited amount.

A commission official, in announcing the decision Monday, said the firm's argument for the price hike was rather specious because it failed to list a specific price increase.

Toyota had asked for the raise on grounds that one goal of President Nixon's economic stabilization program is to reduce the volume of imports to the United States and that, if Toyotas were more expensive, fewer Americans would buy them.

Bare Throat, Back, Ribs Mark Summer Fashions

NEW YORK (AP) — Whether a woman has a good throat, a great back or a terrific set of ribs, she'll have a chance to show it off this summer.

Since long evening skirts threaten to obscure tanned legs, designers are busy drumming up interest elsewhere.

The halter look continues to blossom in summer fashions. The bare midriff has made a move. And cut-out dresses are on the way.

At the Givenchy Nouvelle Boutique spring-summer collection shown Tuesday, the bare midriff turned up in a simple brown pants outfit. A caftan was slit to the waist. A dress back was chopped in a cricle.

Several couture designers have gone to the halter, but rejected the bare middle as too much: James Galanos, Bill Blass and Geoffrey Beene.

Galanos likes halters for day and night. They're crisped up with neat piping.

Blass has gotten barer for summer. He's showing his halters without the matching wraps he used for spring.

"I don't think the bare midriff is right for couture, it may be just a come on, with tongue in cheek," said Geoffrey Beene, who's adopted the halter for his summer line, priced $175 to $400.

Donald Brooks disagrees. He's always liked bare middles "for the couture customer in a smaller size." His halters are draped, Grecian boy style, an outgrowth of the large-ruffled tops he did for spring.

"I have no halters in the summer line. I did that two years ago. They're late," says Rodrigues for Peter Clements, who is making cut-out dresses instead.

When women aren't trailing around in bare-looking evening dresses, they may wear Galanos's covered dresses with pleated skirts or Bill Blass's jersey evening pajamas.

Galanos did not concentrate on pants for day, as he feels women are tired of them. He was more interested in "serviceable and chic" day dresses with their own jackets, or shirt dresses.

The Givenchy boutique collection featured pants with pleated, belted tops and neat shirt dresses for day.

State Grange Legislative Confab Set

The Ohio State Grange will conduct a state-wide legislative conference on Feb. 12 at the Imperial House West, Columbus.

Among those attending from Pickaway County will be Carl Bennett, Pomona legislative agent; John Dowler and Ernest Bidwell, county grange deputy and subordinate grange legislative agents.

Legislative agents of subordinate granges throughout the state will be in attendance to hear about legislative matters now under consideration and to discuss needs for additional legislation.

The speaker of the morning session will be A. G. Lancione, minority leader of the Ohio House of Representatives.

Following luncheon, the delegation will hear from Ohio's Director of Agriculture, Gene R. Abercrombie. Discussion for the afternoon session will be led by Sam Speck, Guernsey County representative.

State Master James Ross will preside at Saturday's meeting. He will be assisted by Attorney John E. Henderson, Cambridge, legislative representative for the Ohio State Grange. The Columbus meeting follows a series of district legislative conferences which have been conducted throughout the state.

Scientists Still Await BIG California Quake

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A year ago Wednesday, at 6:01 a.m., a powerful earthquake wrenched the northern end of the San Fernando Valley.

Starting with a six-inch slip-page five miles deep in the earth, scientists calculate, movement along the fault was six feet at the surface in the town of San Fernando.

The shock—6.4 or "moderately heavy" on the Richter scale of earthquake intensity—pushed the San Gabriel Mountains up and over the floor of the San Fernando Valley, a principal bedroom community area for Los Angeles.

Sixty-four persons died. More than 2,400 were injured.

The damage was more than $500 million. Included were 850 homes, 65 apartment buildings and 574 commercial-industrial structures so severely smashed they were vacated.

Freeways writhed, and an overpass collapsed, crushing two men in a pickup truck. Forty-nine died in the collapse of San Fernando Veterans Administration Hospitals.

Yet it wasn't the big quake experts predict.

The Los Angeles County Earthquake Commission, composed largely of California Institute of Technology faculty deans, says: "There is reasonable expectancy that before the end of the century a quake of much greater magnitude will visit Southern California."

What's the picture a year after the jolt?

Aftershocks, most of them imperceptible, have numbered more than 1,000. The latest rattled houses Monday night. The only damage reported were a few broken dishes.

The Small Business Administration has approved more than $200 million in loans for about 70,000 home owners and business operators. Most damaged homes look freshly repaired and repainted.

But only interim medical services can be had in the northeast part of the valley. Four hospitals sustained an estimated $52 million in damage and a total loss of more than 1,900 treatment beds.

On the personal level, interviewers from UCLA's Survey Research Center found: For weeks after the quake countless men, women and children slept restlessly, many of them not at all. A howling wind, a freight train rumbling by, a creaking floor or a gas heater shutting itself off aroused them with a start.

Children had nightmares. Many refused to sleep in their own rooms. Some went back to bed-wetting. Some refused to return to school. Some literally clung to their mothers' skirts.

Oddly, the people most affected were among those whose homes were least damaged. The investigators found that 23.2 per cent of residents in the hardest hit area said they were emotionally disturbed compared with 40.9 per cent in areas least affected.

Yet earthquake fear has subsided for most valley residents. Realtors report no signs of a mass exodus. Some who remain express the view that lightning won't strike twice in the same place.

The hardest-hit areas, Sylmar and San Fernando, have a bright new aspect. In residential areas there are newly paved driveways, freshly painted houses, newly built fences, too.

A spokesman for the Insurance Information Institute said the insured loss will be about $50 million, and more than $40 million has been paid. He added:

"As a catastrophe it was small potatoes to the insurance industry. We had hurricane Betsy in 1965 in the Gulf states which ran $715 million in insurance losses paid."

Paper Ballots For Delegates Said Necessary

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Secretary of State Ted Brown says he now has no alternative but to instruct county boards of election that Democratic convention delegate selections must be made by paper ballots in the May primary.

He said this is because of Atty. Gen. William Brown's refusal Tuesday to initiate "a friendly lawsuit" to determine whether each delegate candidate to a presidential hopeful had to be listed on the ballot.

In refusing, the attorney general noted the Ohio Constitution requires that delegates to a national political convention be chosen by a direct vote.

The secretary of state said it would be impossible to list the 153 delegates and 78 alternates to at least three Democratic candidates on voting machines.

Ted Brown, a Republican, asked William Brown, a Democrat, to file a "friendly suit" against the Franklin County Board of Elections, which had agreed to be the defendant in the action.

The secretary of state's idea was to get a court order determining whether the name of the presidential candidate, himself, on the voting machine would be enough.

Under the proposal, a vote for a candidate would have been a vote for his entire delegate slate.

The legislature recently passed a law permitting the block voting of delegate candidates pledged to one presidential hopeful. An "X" may be marked for the candidate, thus providing a vote for each of his delegates.

While rejecting Ted Brown's request, the attorney general said he would gladly defend him in any litigation from an order that delegates be selected by paper ballots.

"Instead of being a plaintiff in the action, we're now forced into being a defendant if this issue goes to court," Ted Brown observed.

The use of paper ballots is expected to cost the county boards of election an additional $2 million statewide.

Nixon Keeps Hands Off Ohio Fight

CINCINNATI (AP)—The battle for a seat on the Ohio Republican Central Committee between U.S. Sen. Robert Taft Jr. and Hamilton County Chairman Earl Barnes continued to rage today and a Nixon Administration official declared a "hands off" policy.

U.S. Atty. Gen. John Mitchell, in Washington, told The Cincinnati Enquirer:

"I hope that whoever is directing the President's political interests in Ohio would not be foolish enough to get the administration involved in a local party controversy."

Francis Dale, publisher of The Cincinnati Enquirer, is a member of a national "Committee to Reelect The President."

The newspaper also reported Taft's vehement denial of a report that Taft had agreed to support U.S. Rep. William Keating for Ohio governor in return for money to pay off $600,000 in campaign debts.

Taft charged that the report, published in a suburban Hamilton County weekly newspaper, had been planted by Barnes supporters.

Light Snow Band Narrow

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Cold and clear weather dominated most of the nation today.

Light snow fell in a band from northeastern Missouri to southwestern Ohio and north-central Kentucky. Another band of snow stretched across parts of Montana and the western Dakotas.

Aside from some scattered snow flurries south and east of the Great Lakes, the only other precipitation in the country was some light rain in extreme southern Texas, southern Florida and the San Francisco Bay area.

Subzero cold was reported from Pennsylvania and New York to Maine, and from the Dakotas to Illinois.

Temperatures before dawn ranged from 24 below zero at Sioux Falls, S.D., to 73 at Key West, Fla.

Black Alabama Troopers Ordered

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — A federal judge has ordered Alabama's Department of Public Safety, which includes the presently all-white state trooper force, to hire Negroes and white equally among new employees until blacks make up 25 per cent of the department's personnel.

In a ruling from the bench Monday, U.S. District Judge Frank M. Johnson Jr. said the department has discriminated against blacks seeking employment and that the new hiring requirements must be effected immediately to achieve racial balance.

Goldwater Clarifies Piloting Regulation

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Barry Goldwater says published reports that he can no longer fly an aircraft without a copilot are based on a "complete misunderstanding of the law."

The Arizona Republican, a retired Air Force Reserve major general, said Monday that under Federal Aviation Administration regulations a person over 60 cannot fly a commercial craft under any conditions.

But the 63-year-old Goldwater said a person over 60 who meets FAA medical requirements is not prohibited from flying a noncommercial aircraft, with or without a copilot, and that he had passed the physical examination.

Scientists Still Await BIG California Quake

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A year ago Wednesday, at 6:01 a.m., a powerful earthquake wrenched the northern end of the San Fernando Valley.

Starting with a six-inch slippage five miles deep in the earth, scientists calculate, movement along the fault was six feet at the surface in the town of San Fernando.

Bare Throat, Back, Ribs Mark Summer Fashions

NEW YORK (AP) — Whether a woman has a good throat, a great back or a terrific set of ribs, she'll have a chance to show it off this summer.

Since long evening skirts threaten to obscure tanned legs, designers are busy drumming up interest elsewhere.

The halter look continues to blossom in summer fashions. The bare midriff has made a move. And cut-out dresses are on the way.

At the Givenchy Nouvelle Boutique spring-summer collection shown Tuesday, the bare midriff turned up in a simple brown pants outfit. A caftan was slit to the waist. A dress back was chopped in a circle.

Several couture designers have gone to the halter, but rejected the bare middle as too much: James Galanos, Bill Blass and Geoffrey Beene.

Galanos likes halters for day and night. They're crisped up with neat piping.

Blass has gotten barer for summer. He's showing his halters without the matching wraps he used for spring.

"I don't think the bare midriff is right for couture, it may be just a come on, with tongue in cheek," said Geoffrey Beene, who's adopted the halter for his summer line, priced $175 to $400.

Donald Brooks disagrees. He's always liked bare middles "for the couture customer in a smaller size." His halters are draped, Grecian boy style, an outgrowth of the large-ruffled tops he did for spring.

"I have no halters in the summer line. I did that two years ago. They're late," says Rodriguez for Peter Clements, who is making cut-out dresses instead.

When women aren't trailing around in bare-looking evening dresses, they may wear Galanos' covered dresses with pleated skirts or Bill Blass' jersey evening pajamas.

Galanos did not concentrate on pants for day, as he feels women are tired of them. He was more interested in "serviceable and chic" day dresses with their own jackets, or shirt dresses.

The Givenchy boutique collection featured pants with pleated, belted tops and neat shirt dresses for day.

WSCS Of Calvary Church Hears Story About China

Mrs. Andrew Goeller presented an interesting and informative program on China during a recent meeting of WSCS Morning Circle of Calvary United Methodist Church in the home of Mrs. James Salyer, 544 Edgewood Drive.

President, Mrs. Dale DeLong, opened the meeting with this thought: "Read Or Keep The Scripture?" We need to live it — not just read it. It is faith put into action, believing it and living it. She closed devotions with prayer.

Mrs. DeLong reminded members of the district project Red Bird Mission, Ky. There is a great need at this mission and all were urged to do their part in helping in the near future.

This being Heart Month the spiritual life secretary, Mrs. Earl Millirons, read four different Scriptures pertaining to the heart. Also the hymn "Near To The Heart Of God" was sung and prayer offered.

March 3 is World Day of Prayer. Plans are being formulated for this service to be held in Calvary United Methodist Church at 1:30 p.m.

New reading course book lists were presented along with the new books that were purchased for this year.

The March 14 meeting will be a general meeting for both morning and evening circles. Guest speaker for the evening will be Marcella Helsler. Her topic will be "New Generations In Africa." Hostesses will be Mrs. Manley Carothers, Mrs. Myrtle Leist, Mrs. Willis Flowers and Mrs. Delores Wolfe.

Mrs. Goeller said that China is the most densely populated country in the world. It contains one-third of the world's population. So many people live there, even their own government doesn't have an accurate account.

It is a vast and varied country about the size of the United States. The phrase "The Good Earth" of China is so named because the foundation of society there is the peasant farmer. When the land has produced well and men have had enough to eat, China has prospered. Suffering in China comes when the rains come, rivers flood, the soil has worn out and crops fail.

China is divided into 4 sections:

1. The Northeast or Manchuria. Here are found coal, iron and minerals. One third of China's coal, steel and machine tools are produced in this area. State farms produce great quantities of sugar beets, soybeans and wheat. Forests provide lumber for industry.

2. The Lower Yellow River Valley. This area is said to have been inhabited as early as 1500 B.C.

The Yellow River runs through this area and until recent years caused great damage and misery through flooding. Flood control has always been one of the most important public works in this area. In recent years the Communist government has built large dams to produce water power. Wheat, grain, millet and soybeans are the staples of this section of China.

3. The Yangtze River Valley. This is the largest waterway in China. Here they grow three crops of rice each year, mulberry trees are very important for the silk industry. Following the Yangtze River to the west, we come to the "Red Basin of Szechuan." Here the climate provides for the growing season eleven months of the year. Crops consisting of rice, wheat, hemp, sugarcane, cotton, tea, mulberry and citrus trees.

4. South China. This is one of the most intensely farmed regions in the world. Many of the same crops are grown here — adding subtropical fruit. There is some mining for tungsten, a type of rare heavy steel-gray, very infusible, metallic chemical. It is used in making steel and for electric-lamp filaments. Antimony, a brittle, hard, metallic chemical element with a bright, silvery, crystalline texture used chiefly in alloys to make them harder is also mined. Fishing and coastal shipping are important industries.

During the Chinese Revolution in 1945 many of the Chinese people, including politicians, military leaders and missionaries, fled to Taiwan under the leadership of Chiang Kai-Shek, who had been converted to Christianity.

Why do the Chinese dislike Americans? One hundred years ago, the general attitude of the American people toward the Chinese was a very unfavorable one. They were a very old civilization who once thought they were on top of the world and all other people were barbarians and needed no outside help.

At the end of the 19th Century, China was on the verge of collapse. Any nation without power to defend themselves was always looked down on as being inferior.

American prejudice against the Chinese can be traced to the contact of peasants brought in as laborers. Many settled down, many others ran into trouble and were run out of the country.

America tried very hard to befriend them. And yet, under the Communist rule, they have turned their backs on us and become our enemies.

There is no closer knit family in the whole human race than the Chinese. All social structure has been built around the family for thousands of years.

No charity or government welfare has been necessary since ties of birth are vastly demanding. Children respect their parents. They have a deep love for the family unit that no government or ideology can destroy.

All over China, streets, public buildings, schools are found political signs and portraits of Mao Tse-tung. Mao is revered as a father figure.

The city streets are immaculately clean, full of people riding bikes and pushing carts. There are no cars — just a few buses.

The Chinese peasant children are being taught to read and write. They must study their little Red Book given them by Mao, as a 19th Century Evangelist studied his Holy Bible. They believe that if the thoughts of Mao are studied and applied correctly, there is a solution for everything from improving crops to curing their ills.

When questioned about the change in China, farmers and workmen now say: I never have to worry anymore about my children. I know they will never be hungry as I was.

For a large part of the 19th and 20th Centuries, China was the major foreign mission field. However, the emphasis ended abruptly when the Communists came into power and missionaries were forced to leave. There is still no organized church in China.

The United States has been the one country in the world constantly approving Red China both inside and outside the United Nations.

President Richard Nixon has now relaxed trade and travel relations between the United States and China and China is now a member of the United Nations. Other interesting facts and statistics were given.

Hostess, Mrs. Salyers, served a delicious salad with wafers, tea and coffee.

Wear Fur For Fashion — Not Just Warmth

DON'T HIBERNATE — These days the fashion idea for fur is that the coats are made for action and good looks, not just warmth. At a recent fashion show, Swakara, the boardtail from South West Africa was

Schaffer, daughter of Mayor John Lindsay of New York City, models a beige sports coat next. Kiki Topping, last, has on a trim black walking coat with a silver fox collar and matching hat. Well-known actresses and society personalities who donated their services for the fashion show did so to benefit the Will Rogers Hospital and the O'Donnell Memorial Research Laboratories.

Reported Child Stealing Said Mistake By Grandma

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP) — Two Charleston youngsters, and their grandmother and great aunt who are charged in Ohio warrants with child stealing, have been ordered to appear for a hearing next Tuesday in Kanawha Common Pleas Court.

The women, Mrs. Dolly Fisher, 65, and Mrs. Madeline Jordan, 45, both of the Charleston area, are charged in warrants from Columbus, Ohio, with taking Donld Dinklocker, 11, and sister Nan, 10, from Ohio State University Hospital Monday night.

West Virginia authorities have declined to extend into the state those warrants, obtained by the children's mother, Mrs. Helen Jeffers of Columbus.

Mrs. Jeffers was given legal custody of the children in 1961 in a divorce proceeding here, but the children have been raised since birth by their grandmother, Mrs. Fisher, and her sister, Mrs. Jordan.

Mrs. Fisher had taken Donald to Columbus Monday following a hearing before Common Pleas Judge John Goad in which it was agreed that the youngster needed medical attention for abnormal brain waves detected in tests and that he should receive it in Columbus.

Mrs. Jordan told police here Tuesday that in Columbus they waited "for the doctors to tell us something and they never did. So we came home."

After the mother obtained the warrants, Ohio police initiated a search. The women and the children walked into Charleston police headquarters at noon Tuesday.

Judge Goad said Tuesday he would probably order Mrs. Fisher in Monday's hearing to take Donald to the Columbus hospital for the treatment. He said he would probably place her under bond to make sure she doesn't take the child there and then remove him.

WSCS Of Calvary Church Hears Story About China

Mrs. Andrew Goeller presented an interesting and informative program on China during a recent meeting of WSCS Morning Circle of Calvary United Methodist Church in the home of Mrs. James Salyer, 544 Edgewood Drive.

President, Mrs. Dale DeLong, opened the meeting with this thought: "Read Or Keep The Scripture?" We need to live it — not just read it. It is faith put into action, believing it and living it. She closed devotions with prayer.

Mrs. DeLong reminded members of the district project Red Bird Mission, Ky. There is a great need at this mission and all were urged to do their part in helping in the near future.

This being Heart Month the spiritual life secretary, Mrs. Earl Milliron, read four different Scriptures pertaining to the heart. Also the hymn "Near To The Heart Of God" was sung and prayer offered.

March 3 is World Day of Prayer. Plans are being formulated for this service to be held in Calvary United Methodist Church at 1:30 p.m.

New reading course book lists were presented along with the new books that were purchased for this year.

The March 14 meeting will be a general meeting for both morning and evening circles. Guest speaker for the evening will be Marcella Helsler. Her topic will be "New Generations In Africa." Hostesses will be Mrs. Manley Carothers, Mrs. Myrtle Leist, Mrs. Willis Flowers and Mrs. Delores Wolfe.

Mrs. Goeller said that China is the most densely populated country in the world. It contains one-third of the world's population. So many people live there, even their own government doesn't have an accurate account.

It is a vast and varied country about the size of the United States. The phrase "The Good Earth" of China is so named because the foundation of society there is the peasant farmer. When the land has produced well and men have had enough to eat, China has prospered. Suffering in China comes when the rains come, rivers flood, the soil has worn out and crops fail.

China is divided into 4 sections:

1. The Northeast or Manchuria. Here are found coal, iron and minerals. One third of China's coal, steel and machine tools are produced in this area. State farms produce great quantities of sugar beets, soybeans and wheat. Forests provide lumber for industry.

2. The Lower Yellow River Valley. This area is said to have been inhabited as early as 1500 B.C.

The Yellow River runs through this area and until recent years caused great damage and misery through flooding. Flood control has always been one of the most important public works in this area. In recent years the Communist government has built large dams to produce water power. Wheat, grain, millet and soybeans are the staples of this section of China.

3. The Yangtze River Valley. This is the largest waterway in China. Here they grow three crops of rice each year, mulberry trees are very important for the silk industry. Following the Yangtze River to the west, we come to the "Red Basin of Szechuan." Here the climate provides for the growing season eleven months of the year. Crops consisting of rice, wheat, hemp, sugarcane, cotton, tea, mulberry and citrus trees.

4. South China. This is one of the most intensely farmed regions in the world. Many of the same crops are grown here — adding subtropical fruit. There is some mining for tungsten, a type of rare heavy steel-gray, very infusible, metallic chemical. It is used in making steel and for electric-lamp filaments. Antimony, a brittle, hard, metallic chemical element with a bright, silvery, crystalline texture used chiefly in alloys to make them harder is also mined. Fishing and coastal shipping are important industries.

During the Chinese Revolution in 1945 many of the Chinese people, including politicians, military leaders and missionaries, fled to Taiwan under the leadership of Chiang Kai-Shek, who had been converted to Christianity.

Why do the Chinese dislike Americans? One hundred years ago, the general attitude of the American people toward the Chinese was a very unfavorable one. They were a very old civilization who once thought they were on top of the world and all other people were barbarians and needed no outside help.

At the end of the 19th Century, China was on the verge of collapse. Any nation without power to defend themselves was always looked down on as being inferior.

American prejudice against the Chinese can be traced to the contact of peasants brought in as laborers. Many settled down, many others ran into trouble and were run out of the country.

America tried very hard to befriend them. And yet, under the Communist rule, they have turned their backs on us and become our enemies.

There is no closer knit family in the whole human race than the Chinese. All social structure has been built around the family for thousands of years.

No charity or government welfare has been necessary since ties of birth are vastly demanding. Children respect their parents. They have a deep love for the family unit that no government or ideology can destroy.

All over China, streets, public buildings, schools are found political signs and portraits of Mao Tse-tung. Mao is revered as a father figure.

The city streets are immaculately clean, full of people riding bikes and pushing carts. There are no cars — just a few buses.

The Chinese peasant children are being taught to read and write. They must study their little Red Book given them by Mao, as a 19th Century Evangelist studied his Holy Bible.

They believe that if the thoughts of Mao are studied and applied correctly, there is a solution for everything from improving crops to curing their ills.

When questioned about the change in China, farmers and workmen now say: I never have to worry anymore about my children, I know they will never be hungry as I was.

For a large part of the 19th and 20th centuries, China was the major foreign mission field. However, the emphasis ended abruptly when the Communists came into power and missionaries were forced to leave. There is still no organized church in China.

The United States has been the one country in the world constantly approving Red China both inside and outside the United Nations.

President Richard Nixon has now relaxed trade and travel relations between the United States and China and China is now a member of the United Nations. Other interesting facts and statistics were given.

Hostess, Mrs. Salyer, served a delicious salad with wafers, tea and coffee.

Wear Fur For Fashion — Not Just Warmth

DON'T HIBERNATE — These days the fashion idea for fur is that the coats are made for action and good looks, not just warmth. At a recent fashion show, Swakara, the boardtail from South West Africa was

Schaffer, daughter of Mayor John Lindsay of New York City, models a beige sports coat next. Kiki Topping, last, has on a trim black walking coat with a silver fox collar and matching hat. Well-known actresses and society personalities who donated their services for the fashion show did so to benefit the Will Rogers Hospital and the O'Donnell Memorial Research Laboratories.

Reported Child Stealing Said Mistake By Grandma

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP) — Two Charleston youngsters, and their grandmother and great aunt who are charged in Ohio warrants with child stealing, have been ordered to appear for a hearing next Tuesday in Kanawha Common Pleas Court.

The women, Mrs. Dolly Fisher, 65, and Mrs. Madeline Jordan, 45, both of the Charleston area, are charged in warrants from Columbus, Ohio, with taking Donald Dinklocker, 11, and sister Nan, 10, from Ohio State University Hospital Monday night.

Trial Dress Code, New Course Given Board Okay

A trial dress code and a new high school course were given an affirmative nod Tuesday evening as the Circleville School Board met to discuss February business.

The dress code, which goes into effect immediately, allows boys to have longer hair styles and permits both boys and girls to wear jeans and other attire that is "reasonably" patched, fringed or bleached.

This new code was approved for a 60 day trial period and was the result of a petition by students, following study on the subject, to allow them to alter dress rules for all city schools. In reporting the changes, Superintendent Fritz Jacobs told the board and two student body representatives that requests to permit hot pants for girls and shoulder length hair for boys would not be considered.

During the trial period at least, the hair regulations for boys will read "Boys must keep hair properly and neatly groomed. Hair length for boys not to exceed below earlobe on side, below eyebrows in front and not below collar in back."

BOYS only will be permitted to wear "T" shirts and sweat shirts. Lettering and emblems on the shirts will be accepted if pertaining to educational institutions.

In all areas, attire that is "reasonable" is the judgment of the principal. Jacobs commented that the student group, when presenting the request for the dress code change, admitted that the code must be enforced to be effective. Students will be held responsible for policing their own peers on their choice of school attire.

The superintendent also announced that it was still the philosophy of the administration that the district needs and will retain a dress code, hopefully on a cooperative basis with students and teachers alike.

Newest high school course to be offered to students is a Historical Seminar, a project proposed by Wallace Higgins. The teacher, who is greatly interested in history, recommended the course in its initial year for seniors who would like to do in-depth study on some phase of history while getting practical experience in handling a research problem. Higgins will also provide instruction on proper writing of a research paper.

Resignations were accepted from three employees: Barbara Schnell, elementary teacher at South Court, effective April 21, due to added family responsibilities; Fred Goegelin, one-fourth time audio-visual consultant, effective Dec. 31, 1971; Mrs. Betty Gates, senior high secretary, effective Feb. 11, additional home duties. A leave of absence was granted, beginning April 24, for Susan Miga, Corwin elementary, due to pregnancy.

Board members authorized the superintendent to appoint a high school secretary to replace Mrs. Gates as soon as possible.

MRS. Louisa Stemm was added to the elementary teacher substitute list.

Pending approval from the State Department of Vocational Education, the board agreed to purchase two ten-key adding machines at $90 each for the Distributive Education Department from Baker Typewriter in Lancaster. Fifty per cent of the cost will be reimbursed by the state if accepted.

Junior High Industrial arts students may have an opportunity to explore the printing and typesetting process with the board's okay to purchase a used hand press and type from the Advocate Publishing Co. for $250. New draperies were purchased for the junior high stage for $463 and vinyl draperies ordered for the new high school and elementary rooms at Nicholas Drive. Total cost for the vinyl drapes will be $2013.

The following teachers will attend professional meetings: Sharon Ryan, Ohio Assn. of School Librarians Leadership Conference, March 3, 4 and 5 at Atwood Lake.

Danny Fouts, State Baseball Coaches Clinic, Feb. 11 at Ohio State University.

DONALD Metzler, meeting on "Teaching Students with Learning Problems," Feb. 23 and 24 at Lancaster.

James Funk was appointed assistant baseball coach to assist Fouts in the 1972 season. Funk is a social studies teacher at the high school.

All board members present were President Dale DeLong, Mrs. Ruth Kraus, Tom Elsea, Dr. Robert Liggett, Forrest Brown, Clark Mary Ellen Rader. Also attending the session were Joe McGowan, president of student council; Conchita Lowe, head of the student relations committee; Wallace Higgins and Charles Clark, faculty members.

Court Lists Activity Report

Circleville Municipal Court collected $14,916.75 in fines, costs, and bond forfeitures during the month of January.

The city will receive $7,823.20 of the money, Pickaway County, $2,028.90 and the law library, $1,478.

There were 543 criminal cases filed in January and 551 completed. The court released $1,444 in suspended fines and costs from 43 cases.

Five civil cases were filed and 10 completed. There were two marriages performed.

There were 33 small claims cases filed and 26 finished, bringing the court $67.50 in costs.

Escapees To Return To Columbus

COVINGTON, Ky. (AP) — Two escapees from the Ohio State Penitentiary at Columbus, Ohio were expected to be returned there today or later this week by U.S. Marshal.

U.S. Magistrate Robert Cetrulo Tuesday ordered the men bound over to the U.S. District Court in Columbus under $50,000 bond each. He refused their requests for reduction of their former $25,000 bonds, set at an earlier arraignment.

The men were listed as Donald G. Manis, 29, of Salem, Ohio, and Donald F. Ferdinand, 34, of Cincinnati.

They were arrested by FBI agents in Newport Jan. 31 five days after their escape over the wall at the state penitentiary. They climbed down an electrical cord.

The pair seized a man from the Columbus suburb of Hilliard and forced him to drive them to Covington then back to Cincinnati where they released him.

The escapees and a third accomplice captured only hours later were the first prisoners to escape over the wall in 137 years. The last escape involved Confederate soldiers during the War Between the States.

Both men were identified by Harold J. Cardwell, warden at the Ohio Penitentiary, and Clifford Walker, a shift captain at the prison.

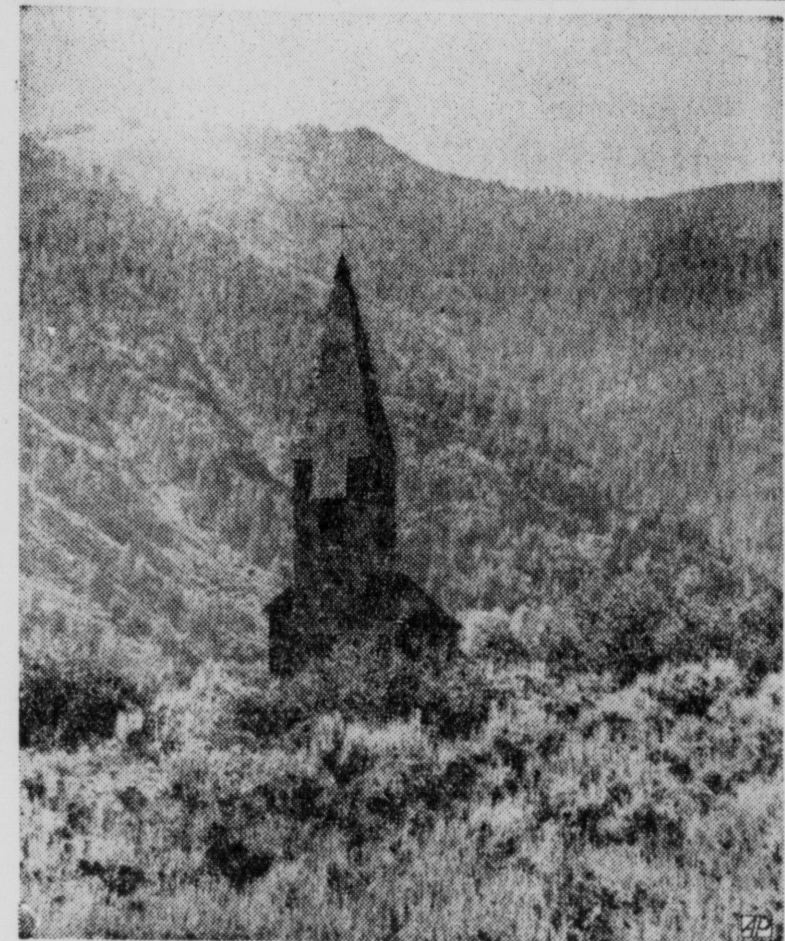

The men were held in the Covington-Kenton County Jail pending issuance of a removal warrant by U.S. District Judge Mac Swinford.

General Electric Strike At An End

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — A strike by Local 1377 of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers against the General Electric Co.'s East 45th Street lamp plant ended Monday when union members voted to return to work.

About 900 workers had been on strike since Jan. 20 in a dispute over work standards in the packing of miniature lamps. Another 275 plant workers had crossed picket lines and continued at their jobs.

EARTH'S MONUMENTS — The spire of an old stone chapel stands out against a backdrop of the mountains and the clear blue sky of Aspen, Colo.

Armstrong Says Environment Helped By Space Technology

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Neil Armstrong, the moon walker who traded his space suit for an academic gown, says the most important by-product of space exploration could be an improvement in the earth's environment.

"Awareness of the fragility of the environment may be the most important outcome of the space program," the world's first man on the moon said here Tuesday.

Addressing the Mid America Show, a convention of hardware producers and dealers, Armstrong said space exploration has given humans a new view of their planet.

"The first pictures of the world from outer space," he said, showed how small the earth is in the blackness of space. This realization, he said, has made humans more appreciative of their environment and stimulated the move to protect it.

Armstrong, now a professor of engineering at the University of Cincinnati, said the technology which has developed space travel must, and will, be used to eliminate environmental problems on earth.

"If New York City could recover the heat value of its trash," said the one-time hardware store worker from Wapakoneta, Ohio, "it could supply about 20 per cent of its power needs."

Armstrong said solid waste was a problem in outer space. "What do you do with all those Tang wrappers?" he asked in mock seriousness.

"The purpose of all those space walks," he quipped, "was to take the garbage out."

Armstrong envisioned a day when satellites would provide "complete libraries of films and books" to private homes through television monitors.

He also foresaw the day when technology would "eliminate the calamity of severe storms," and would control rain and the temperature.

"The future of society," he said, "depends on how well we learn to use our new tools. I believe we will learn the proper way."

Methodists Plan Lenten Bible Study

An estimated 30 to 40 thousand United Methodist men and women in a thousand local churches across the West Ohio Conference will spend many hours during Lent in a special study of the Bible.

In preparation, Bishop F. Gerald Ensley, Episcopal leader of the Ohio West Area, instructed a selected group of 72 ministers from the conference's 14 districts.

The Rev. C. Edward Linville, Williamsport, is one of the ministers who studied under the bishop.

During the first two weeks of February, the Rev. Linville will help lead retreats, to be attended by another thousand ministers from the districts. They in turn will teach classes in their churches between Ash Wednesday and Holy Week.

This year's subject will be the Book of Revelation.

Irving Paramour Didn't See Hughes

Editor's Note—The following story was written by Nina van Pallandt in collaboration with London Sunday Mirror writer Don Short.

By NINA VAN PALLANDT
Written for the
London Sunday Mirror

LONDON (AP) — It's all getting a little bit like James Bond. The events of the past four days have been in a world of sheer fantasy.

All I keep hearing are two names. One is Howard Hughes, the eccentric millionaire I've never met in my life.

The other is Clifford Irving, the name of a man I have loved and an author I still believe has pulled off the literary coup of the century.

If this affair had not got into the world headlines, I know my affair with Clifford, however indiscreet it was, would still be a secret today.

There is nothing I can do. What damage has been done, has been done, but I fervently hope it will not break his marriage to his wife Edith because I know they are very happy together.

It was 7 1/2 years ago in Ibiza when we found ourselves in a small beach party together.

Clifford—I'd read several of his books and knew him by reputation—was in the party and we discovered we both lived on the island.

I was then living with my husband Frederik and our children.

Ibiza is a small island and it has lots of social life and it wasn't long before I was bumping into Clifford at cocktail parties and other functions. He became a family friend.

It wasn't until last year that our friendship developed into any kind of relationship. Clifford was then married to Edith, his fourth wife, and my own marriage to Frederik had broken up.

One night at my Chelsea home I got a call from Clifford saying he was coming to London and I invited him in to have dinner that same night with other friends.

During his stay, Clifford asked me if I would like to go on holiday with him to Nassau.

We took the plane to New York the next morning—it was Feb. 12 as far as I recall. When we got there, Clifford announced a sudden change of plans. "Would you mind," he said, "if we went to Mexico instead?"

Clifford then told me he had to go to Mexico to meet Howard Hughes, whose autobiography phy he was writing.

I had to return to London (from Mexico after 3 1/2 days) and on the previous day Clifford went out to arrange my air ticket back.

He was gone between one and a half to two hours. That is the only time when he went out alone for any such period.

I have heard that in an affidavit Clifford has sworn that I was with him when he met Howard Hughes. I cannot believe Clifford would say such a thing because I certainly didn't meet Hughes at any time during our stay there.

U.S. Fund Misuse To Be Probed

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Federal officials plan to meet today with the head of the Council for Economic Opportunities of Greater Cleveland in a Justice Department probe of possible misuse of federal funds in the area's antipoverty programs, the Cleveland Plain Dealer said.

The Council for Economic Opportunities (CEO), headed by Ralph Findley, supervises distribution of federal funds in the Cleveland area. More than $7 million was allocated for the area last year.

The Plain Dealer said the investigation was prompted by complaints from an area resident about what he called waste in federal funding.

The moon is about 239,000 miles from the earth.

This new code was approved for a 60 day trial period and was the result of a petition by students, following study on the subject, to allow them to alter dress rules for all city schools. In reporting the changes, Superintendent Fritz Jacobs told the board and two student body representatives that requests to permit hot pants for girls and shoulder length hair for boys would not be considered.

During the trial period at least, the hair regulations for boys will read "Boys must keep hair properly and neatly groomed. Hair length for boys not to exceed below earlobe on side, below eyebrows in front and not below collar in back."

BOYS only will be permitted to wear "T" shirts and sweat shirts. Lettering and emblems on the shirts will be accepted if pertaining to educational institutions.

In all areas, attire that is "reasonable" is the judgment of the principal. Jacobs commented that the student group, when presenting the request for the dress code change, admitted that the code must be enforced to be effective. Students will be held responsible for policing their own peers on their choice of school attire.

The superintendent also announced that it was still the philosophy of the administration that the district needs and will retain a dress code, hopefully on a cooperative basis with students and teachers alike.

Newest high school course to be offered to students is a Historical Seminar, a project proposed by Wallace Higgins. The teacher, who is greatly interested in history, recommended the course in its initial year for seniors who would like to do in-depth study on some phase of history while getting practical experience in handling a research problem. Higgins will also provide instruction on proper writing of a research paper.

Resignations were accepted from three employees: Barbara Schnell, elementary teacher at South Court, effective April 21, due to added family responsibilities; Fred Goegelin, one-fourth time audio-visual consultant, effective Dec. 31, 1971; Mrs. Betty Gates, senior high secretary, effective Feb. 11, additional home duties. A leave of absence was granted, beginning April 24, for Susan Miga, Corwin elementary, due to pregnancy.

Board members authorized the superintendent to appoint a high school secretary to replace Mrs. Gates as soon as possible.

MRS. Louisa Stemm was added to the elementary teacher substitute list.

Pending approval from the State Department of Vocational Education, the board agreed to purchase two ten-key adding machines at $90 each for the Distributive Education Department from Baker Typewriter in Lancaster. Fifty per cent of the cost will be reimbursed by the state if accepted.

Junior High Industrial arts students may have an opportunity to explore the printing and typesetting process with the board's okay to purchase a used hand press and type from the Advocate Publishing Co. for $250. New draperies were purchased for the junior high stage for $463 and vinyl draperies ordered for the new high school and elementary rooms at Nicholas Drive. Total cost for the vinyl drapes will be $2013.

The following teachers will attend professional meetings:

Sharon Ryan, Ohio Assn. of School Librarians Leadership Conference, March 3, 4 and 5 at Atwood Lake.

Danny Fouts, State Baseball Coaches Clinic, Feb. 11 at Ohio State University.

DONALD Metzler, meeting on "Teaching Students with Learning Problems," Feb. 23 and 24 at Lancaster.

James Funk was appointed assistant baseball coach to assist Fouts in the 1972 season. Funk is a social studies teacher at the high school.

All board members present were President Dale DeLong, Mrs. Ruth Kraus, Tom Elsea, Dr. Robert Liggett, Forrest Brown, Clark Mary Ellen Rader. Also attending the session were Joe McGowan, president of student council; Conchita Lowe, head of the student relations committee; Wallace Higgins and Charles Clark, faculty members.

Escapees To Return To Columbus

COVINGTON, Ky. (AP) — Two escapees from the Ohio State Penitentiary at Columbus, Ohio were expected to be returned there today or later this week by U.S. Marshal.

U.S. Magistrate Robert Cetrulo Tuesday ordered the men bound over to the U.S. District Court in Columbus under $50,000 bond each. He refused their requests for reduction of their former $25,000 bonds, set at an earlier arraignment.

The men were listed as Donald G. Manis, 29, of Salem, Ohio, and Donald F. Ferdinand, 34, of Cincinnati.

They were arrested by FBI agents in Newport Jan. 31 five days after their escape over the wall at the state penitentiary. They climbed down an electrical cord.

The pair seized a man from the Columbus suburb of Hilliard and forced him to drive them to Covington then back to Cincinnati where they released him.

The escapees and a third accomplice captured only hours later were the first prisoners to escape over the wall in 137 years. The last escape involved Confederate soldiers during the War Between the States.

Both men were identified by Harold J. Cardwell, warden at the Ohio Penitentiary, and Clifford Walker, a shift captain at the prison.

The men were held in the Covington-Kenton County Jail pending issuance of a removal warrant by U.S. District Judge Mac Swinford.

General Electric Strike At An End

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — A strike by Local 1377 of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers against the General Electric Co.'s East 45th Street lamp plant ended Monday when union members voted to return to work.

About 900 workers had been on strike since Jan. 20 in a dispute over work standards in the packing of miniature lamps. Another 275 plant workers had crossed picket lines and continued at their jobs.

EARTH'S MONUMENTS — The spire of an old stone chapel stands out against a backdrop of the mountains and the clear blue sky of Aspen, Colo.

Armstrong Says Environment Helped By Space Technology

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Neil Armstrong, the moon walker who traded his space suit for an academic gown, says the most important by-product of space exploration could be an improvement in the earth's environment.

"Awareness of the fragility of the environment may be the most important outcome of the space program," the world's first man on the moon said here Tuesday.

Addressing the Mid America Show, a convention of hardware producers and dealers, Armstrong said space exploration has given humans a new view of their planet.

"The first pictures of the world from outer space," he said, showed how small the earth is in the blackness of space. This realization, he said, has made humans more appreciative of their environment and stimulated the move to protect it.

Armstrong, now a professor of engineering at the University of Cincinnati, said the technology which has developed space travel must, and will, be used to eliminate environmental problems on earth.

"If New York City could recover the heat value of its trash," said the one-time hardware store worker from Wapakoneta, Ohio, "it could supply about 20 per cent of its power needs."

Armstrong said solid waste was a problem in outer space. "What do you do with all those Tang wrappers?" he asked in mock seriousness.

"The purpose of all those space walks," he quipped, "was to take the garbage out." Armstrong envisioned a day when satellites would provide "complete libraries of films and books" to private homes through television monitors.

He also foresaw the day when technology would "eliminate the calamity of severe storms," and would control rain and the temperature.

"The future of society," he said, "depends on how well we learn to use our new tools. I believe we will learn the proper way."

Methodists Plan Lenten Bible Study

An estimated 30 to 40 thousand United Methodist men and women in a thousand local churches across the West Ohio Conference will spend many hours during lent in a special study of the Bible.

In preparation, Bishop F. Gerald Ensley, Episcopal leader of the Ohio West Area, instructed a selected group of 72 ministers from the conference's 14 districts.

The Rev. C. Edward Linville, Williamsport, is one of the ministers who studied under the bishop.

During the first two weeks of February, the Rev. Linville will help lead retreats, to be attended by another thousand ministers from the districts. They in turn will teach classes in their churches between Ash Wednesday and Holy Week.

This year's subject will be the Book of Revelation.

Irving Paramour Didn't See Hughes

Editor's Note—The following story was written by Nina van Pallandt in collaboration with London Sunday Mirror writer Don Short.

By NINA VAN PALLANDT
Written for the
London Sunday Mirror

LONDON (AP) — It's all getting a little bit like James Bond. The events of the past four days have been in a world of sheer fantasy.

All I keep hearing are two names. One is Howard Hughes, the eccentric millionaire I've never met in my life.

The other is Clifford Irving, the name of a man I have loved and an author I still believe has pulled off the literary coup of the century.

If this affair had not got into the world headlines, I know my affair with Clifford, however indiscreet it was, would still be a secret today.

There is nothing I can do. What damage has been done, has been done, but I fervently hope it will not break his marriage to his wife Edith because I know they are very happy together.

It was 7 1/2 years ago in Ibiza when we found ourselves in a small beach party together.

Clifford—I'd read several of his books and knew him by reputation—was in the party and we discovered we both lived on the island.

I was then living with my husband Frederik and our children.

Ibiza is a small island and it has lots of social life and it wasn't long before I was bumping into Clifford at cocktail parties and other functions. He became a family friend.

It wasn't until last year that our friendship developed into any kind of relationship. Clifford was then married to Edith, his fourth wife, and my own marriage to Frederik had broken up.

One night at my Chelsea home I got a call from Clifford saying he was coming to London and I invited him in to have dinner that same night with other friends.

During his stay, Clifford asked me if I would like to go on holiday with him to Nassau.

We took the plane to New York the next morning—it was Feb. 12 as far as I recall. When we got there, Clifford announced a sudden change of plans. "Would you mind," he said, "if we went to Mexico instead?"

Clifford then told me he had to go to Mexico to meet Howard Hughes, whose autobiography he was writing.

I had to return to London (from Mexico after 3 1/2 days) and on the previous day Clifford went out to arrange my air ticket back.

He was gone between one and a half to two hours. That is the only time when he went out alone for any such period.

I have heard that in an affidavit Clifford has sworn that I was with him when he met Howard Hughes. I cannot believe Clifford would say such a thing because I certainly didn't meet Hughes at any time during our stay there.

U.S. Fund Misuse To Be Probed

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Federal officials plan to meet today with the head of the Council for Economic Opportunities of Greater Cleveland in a Justice Department probe of possible misuse of federal funds in the area's antipoverty programs, the Cleveland Plain Dealer said.

The Council for Economic Opportunities (CEO), headed by Ralph Findley, supervises distribution of federal funds in the Cleveland area. More than $7 million was allocated for the area last year.

The Plain Dealer said the investigation was prompted by complaints from an area resident about what he called waste in federal funding.

The moon is about 239,000 miles from the earth.

State Plans Resurfacing Of Route 23

Bids for resurfacing sections of the northbound and southbound lanes of U.S. 23 in Pickaway County, north from the Ross County line, will be opened, Feb. 24 by the Ohio Department of Highways. The project was deferred from the 1971 resurfacing program due to a shortage of state funds.

Total programmed estimate including construction and engineering costs is $378,000.

Plans call for full-depth concrete pavement repair, applying wedge course, sealing berms and resurfacing two sections of the southbound lanes for a work length of 12.4 miles and three sections of the northbound lanes for a work length of 2.1 miles.

Traffic will be maintained. Estimated completion date is Sept. 30.

Marysville Inmates Protest Conditions

By BILL WINTER
Associated Press Writer
MARYSVILLE, Ohio (AP) — Leaning forward in her chair, peering through dark glasses, an inmate of the Ohio Reformatory for Women vented her anger and frustration.

"We can't function in society as we function here," she belated. "There's too much of a caste system here."

A group of about 60 inmates of the state's lone correctional facility for adult females nodded in approval at the young woman's outburst, one of many during a 90-minute discussion session at the prison Monday night.

The session, moderated by Dayton broadcaster Phil Donahue, was taped and will be televised in some 40 cities through syndication by the Avco Broadcasting Corp.

The panelists, not identified individually during the off-impressioned session, were selected by inmate balloting. No prison officials were present to respond to charges that ranged from brutality of guards to lack of proper medical care.

The most frequent inmate complaints were of inadequate visiting and recreation privileges, too harsh restrictions on incoming mail packages, inadequate medical care and lack of consistent treatment of all inmates.

But the major theme was respect.

"They take your womanhood away," said one woman. "When you try to be a lady, they won't let you be a lady."

"We want help," said a woman seated nearby. "We leave here, most of us, bitter and hostile. And when we leave, we want to get even with society."

The inmates complained bitterly that simple actions could lead to the "max"—maximum security cell. "If you're found combing another girl's hair," said one woman, "that's the 'max.' You're never aware of breaking a rule until it's broken."

The fear of being branded a homosexual, the women agreed, is a constant pressure for inmates. "There is no way we can say we are just friends," one said. "We're either a cow, a pig, or a homosexual. That's all they (the prison officials) know."

One woman told of seeing an inmate struck in the face by a guard. "They wallowed with the girl in the snow, and one of them hit her with his fist," said the woman, alleging that three guards had manhandled the inmate in front of the reformatory hospital.

"The majority of guards know nothing but pushing and grabbing," said another woman. "I'm willing to go if they don't push me."

One woman said that if "one inmate smacks the other one, the girl who gets hit goes to the 'max' for getting hit."

"Yeah," responded a young brunette, "this is the only place in the world where you're considered guilty until proven innocent."

Several women acknowledged that the prison "provides three good meals a day and clean sheets every week," and others said that some correctional officers and social workers "show sincere interest." But most agreed that the inmate's problems continue after release from the facility.

"Even when you get a job," a Negro woman said, "there is a black mark behind your name. So many potential employers never give us a chance."

Another woman, clothed in a simple blue dress and red sweater, echoed that thought. "We're human beings," she said, "but there's no rehabilitation here whatsoever. The only thing you get is bitterness."

"We need the people outside to give us the jobs when we get outside. All we need is a chance. But we have to be twice as good. We have to have a chance."

As the session closed, a young woman who had had little to say summarized the determination the entire group appeared to feel:

"I'm going to make it out of here," she said, "because I'm not going to die here."

Some Like A Lot Of Family Around

DEAR ABBY: This for "MRS. NO NAME," who felt so abused because her three children and six grandchildren spend a few weeks of their summer vacation with her. My husband and I are the same age as the grandparents but the similarity ends there. We don't have a dishwasher or a swimming pool. But we do have 5 married children and 11 grandchildren.

and nothing gives us more pleasure than to have as many of the tribe around as possible with wall-to-wall air mattresses, and floor to ceiling fun and laughter.

Why doesn't that misguided woman get into "sync" and stay up until 2 a.m. enjoying the fun? Then she wouldn't have any trouble sleeping late with everyone else.

Mrs. No Name is lucky her family wants to visit her. The years of togetherness are so few. If I were DYING, I would never write to my married children and tell them to come one at a time and to limit their visits. Motherly love, though, are a cowbell.

DISGUSTED IN MONTANA
DEAR ABBY: Horray for that grandma who had spunk enough to write to her married children and tell them it was "doctor's orders" that she could have only one family of visitors at a time.

Too many parents let their married children walk all over them, and they suffer in silence with all the inconveniences they are made to endure. (But some do complain a lot to their friends and relatives.)

I say, if married children abuse the privilege of being houseguests, sock it to 'em.

NO PATSY IN PASADENA
DEAR ABBY: There are too many "MRS. NO NAMES" in the world. I refer to the grandmother who complained because her visiting children and grandchildren stayed up until 2 a.m. watching TV, laughing, playing cards and talking with friends.

She also complained because she couldn't turn on her dishwasher, sprinkler or radio until noon because her guests slept late. If they are welcome guests, whom I wished to accommodate, I would gladly refrain from making disturbing noises. If not, I'd go about my business and not worry about the noise. And if they didn't like it, they could leave!

I have no sympathy for doormats. I have always said that people are doormats because they want to be.

MRS. S. C.
DEAR MRS. S.C.: And I've always said that no one can be used for a doormat unless he lies down first.

DEAR ABBY: If you still have MRS. NO NAME'S address, I would sure like to have it. I want to write to her and ask her how it is possible to raise three children, and end up with a three-bedroom home with a swimming pool.

Athens County Vote Plan Said Illegal

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Secretary of State Ted W. Brown Tuesday said a proposed questionnaire to establish legal residency of voters under 21 years of age in Athens County would be illegal.

Brown, a Republican, voted with the two Democrats on the Athens County Board of Elections to break a 2-2 deadlock on the issue.

He is the fifth member on all county boards of election in Ohio.

Republicans on the board wanted to put the questionnaire on registration forms. Brown said it was aimed primarily at determining legal residency of Ohio University students.

He said it was all right for the board to ask questions of residency when a person appears to register. But he said the question could not be put on the voter registration cards.

One of the Democrats on the Athens County board is William Lavelle, state Democratic party chairman.

Brown cited a U.S. District Court decision in a case against himself as the reason for the ruling. That ruling, in effect, established equality of qualification rules for all persons, including students. It said "The equal protection clause requires, however, that the same test be applied to all alike, students or not."

Set Dimout In Britain

LONDON (AP) — The British government decided Tuesday to declare a state of emergency and order a dimout to conserve power because of the five-week-old coal strike.

The decision is expected to take effect Wednesday.

A government spokesman said the first restriction will be a ban on floodlighting and advertising signs. Power stations and generating plants will then make cuts on a rotating basis, the spokesman said.

Coal stockpiles dwindled at power depots, and violence erupted in the Midlands between police and picketing miners attempting to keep supplies from reaching a large coke depot in Birmingham.

Nearly 1,000 picketing miners tangled with 400 police at the depot. Five men were injured seriously, four of them police.

Campaign Spending Measure To Create New Political Era

WASHINGTON (AP) — The era of the anonymous political financier is ending, and Americans in 1972 will be told more than ever before about the sources and use of the money behind the candidates.

Those candidates, for the White House and for Congress, will campaign under new spending ceilings which will curb escalating television expenditures.

But disclosure of every campaign contribution over $100, and of the way all the money is spent, is likely to be the major 1972 impact of a campaign-spending law signed by President Nixon Monday.

It takes effect in 60 days, providing two months for a final round of fund-raising under the old rules, more loophole than law.

The new law limits to 10 cents for each eligible voter the sum a candidate may spend for campaign advertising in any primary or general election contest. No more than 60 percent of that amount may be used for television and radio campaigning.

That translates to an advertising ceiling of $13.9 million for each presidential nominee in the final, fall campaign, with no more than $8.4 million of it available for broadcasting.

The final figures will be slightly higher because of what amounts to a provision for cost-of-living increases.

While the spending limits claimed much of the attention during a long congressional controversy over the bill, their impact may not be evident in the 1972 White House campaign.

The measure requires that broadcasters charge political candidates their lowest advertising rate, which is likely to mean there will be at least as much presidential campaign television as there was four years ago.

In 1968, Republicans spent about $12.7 million on radio and television in President Nixon's campaign; Democrats say they spent $6.1 million.

With the bill's rate provisions likely to mean a reduction by about one-third in the price of political television time, the 1968 Republican performance could be matched within the new spending ceiling.

The over-all advertising limit covers television, radio, newspaper, magazine, billboard and paid telephone campaigns.

It does not cover direct-mail costs, and there are reports that that will be a major facet of the Republican campaign to reelect Nixon.

Nor does it limit a candidate's total campaign spending.

Pollution Cost Eyed

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Republic Steel Corp. president and chief executive officer William Boyer announced Monday a $3 million program to improve air pollution control at its Cleveland plants, and also warned of the prohibitive cost involved.

No 'New' Taxes For Fiscal Year

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration has no intention of asking Congress for a value-added tax or any other kind of new tax during the next fiscal year, the President's chief budget writer told Congress Tuesday.

George P. Shultz, director of the Office of Management and Budget, made the statement before the Congressional Joint Economic Committee in response to a question by its chairman, Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis.

Shultz did not elaborate but Proxmire said it was the first he had heard that the administration had decided not to seek any new tax revenues as they apply to the budget for fiscal 1973, beginning next July 1.

The new law limits to 10 cents for each eligible voter the sum a candidate may spend for campaign advertising in any primary or general election contest. No more than 60 per cent of that amount may be used for television and radio campaigning.

That translates to an advertising ceiling of $13.9 million for each presidential nominee in the final, fall campaign, with no more than $8.4 million of it available for broadcasting.

The final figures will be slightly higher because of what amounts to a provision for cost-of-living increases.

While the spending limits claimed much of the attention during a long congressional controversy over the bill, their impact may not be evident in the 1972 White House campaign.

The measure requires that broadcasters charge political candidates their lowest advertising rate, which is likely to mean there will be at least as much presidential campaign television as there was four years ago.

In 1968, Republicans spent about $12.7 million on radio and television in President Nixon's campaign; Democrats say they spent $6.1 million.

With the bill's rate provisions likely to mean a reduction by about one-third in the price of political television time, the 1968 Republican performance could be matched within the new spending ceiling.

The over-all advertising limit covers television, radio, newspaper, magazine, billboard and paid telephone campaigns.

It does not cover direct-mail costs, and there are reports that will be a major facet of the Republican campaign to re-elect Nixon.

Nor does it limit a candidate's total campaign spending.

Pollution Cost Eyed

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Republic Steel Corp. president and chief executive officer Willis Boyer announced Monday a $3 million program to improve air pollution control at its Cleveland plants, and also warned of the prohibitive cost involved.

No 'New' Taxes For Fiscal Year

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration has no intention of asking Congress for a value-added tax or any other kind of new tax during the next fiscal year, the President's chief budget writer told Congress Tuesday.

George P. Shultz, director of the Office of Management and Budget, made the statement before the Congressional Joint Economic Committee in response to a question by its chairman, Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis.

Shultz did not elaborate but Proxmire said it was the first he had heard that the administration had decided not to seek any new tax revenues as they apply to the budget for fiscal 1973, beginning next July 1.

Kings Island Announces Opening Date

Opening and season dates and times have been announced for Kings Island, the new family entertainment center under construction.

Gary S. Wachs, general manager, said the entertainment complex is to open for preview weekends, starting April 29 and 30. The grand opening will be May 27, when the park begins its daily operation, he said.

Kings Island, located on I-71 about 20 miles north of downtown Cincinnati, will open at 10 a.m. and close at 11 p.m. daily, except Fridays and Saturdays when the park is to close at midnight.

Wachs said the park will cease seven-day operation on Labor Day and return to a weekend schedule during September and October. Admission to the complex is on a pay-one-price basis with children under three-years-old admitted free. Special group rates are available for schools, companies and organizations.

Kings Island is a 1,600-acre,

$30 million Disney-type complex consisting of the theme park, two 18-hole golf courses, a 120-unit motor inn and a 200-site campground. The public golf courses, designed by Jack Nicklaus and Associates, are to be ready for play on July 1. The Kings Island Inn is to open for occupancy on Memorial Day weekend and Kings Island Camping is to begin operation when the theme park opens on April 29.

Construction began on Kings Island less than two years ago.

1st Black Graduate Back At Alabama

TUSCALOOSA, Ala. (AP) — The University of Alabama's first black graduate has inaugurated Black Heritage Week at the school.

Nine years ago, Vivian Malone Jones was the target of Gov. George C. Wallace's "stand in the schoolhouse door," but she gained entry to the then all-white university through federal intervention.

In her first return to the university, Mrs. Jones said Monday that the biggest difference she noted was the number of black students on campus.

Annual Charity Garden, Flower Show Scheduled

The 16th annual Dispatch Charities Garden and Flower Show is a wonderland of beautifully landscaped gardens and unique ideas on ways to accent your home.

This year's show runs Feb. 26 through March 5, at the Ohio State Fairgrounds in the Lausche Building. The show is sponsored by Dispatch Charities in cooperation with the Association and assisted by Columbus Allied Florists Association.

The show offers stimulation for the eye and mind via picturesque displays of trees, shrubs and plants. Guest speakers will talk on various subjects including the history of horticulture and gardening tips.

The Garden and Flower Show features gardens prepared by the area's leading landscapers. Experts will describe the arrangements and suggest ways to plant an outstanding home garden.

The latest models of power equipment for the home gardener plus a variety of plants, plant foods, seeds and other garden materials will be on display and some can be purchased at the commercial booths.

The nine-day show begins at 1 p.m. and lasts till 9 p.m. on weekdays and Saturdays and

Farmers Council Discusses Draft

The Busy Farmers Council discussed the all volunteer armed forces proposal during its regular meeting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Lands Sr. last Wednesday.

The group agreed that such a program would probably weaken the military and the draft should be kept.

It was decided to hold a ham supper at the next meeting at the Land's home.

Meals from 1 p.m. to 7 p.m. Sundays.

Views on Television

By CYNTHIA LOWERY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — NBC's early Valentine for this season was a portrait of young love set to contemporary music. The program, "Love, Love, Love," was "Hall of Fame" special Tuesday night and it tried to be different in a low-key way.

Helen Redy, Mac Davis and a group called Bread sang softly, sadly and romantically about love. Against this background, the cameras wandered far and wide to focus on six young couples, from puppy-love teens to young marrieds, from San Francisco to Philadelphia. There was lots of clutching and kissing, wandering around hand-in-hand and generally, the program had a pleasant quality of innocence about it.

The free form, however, resulted in an hour that was so soothing that after about 30 minutes, it became soporific.

The producer, Bob Banner, used something of the same technique in his first special starring skater Peggy Fleming. The result was a stunning show because its mood material was background for a central core of the exciting skating of the star.

ABC's "Movie of the Week" was another of those pilots for a future series. The show, "Second Chance," seemed to be a woe-filled waste of acting talent. Brian Keith played a successful stockbroker busily building an ulcer to the point he decided to drop out of moneymaking in order to rebuild a Nevada ghost town with people, like himself, who needed a new direction in life.

So far, so good. He populated the place with a former Las Vegas dancer who always wanted to be a teacher; a carpenter and barkeep who had served prison terms; an aging pro football player who wanted to work around horses. Elizabeth Ashley played Keith's city-centered wife; Juliet Prowse was the teacher and Rosey Grier the village blacksmith.

The idea was sort of engaging, but the story wandered off in all directions and towards the end it was so strangely edited, some essential part of the story seemed to be missing.

Midseason time shifts apparently have helped NBC's "Ironside" more than any other show. In the most recent Nielsen ratings, it follows CBS's "All in the Family" and ABC's "Women in Chains," a made-for-TV movie, at the top.

Among the new shows, neither ABC's "Sixth Sense" nor NBC's "Emergency"—both hour-long dramatic shows—picked up much steam. And ABC's anthology type "Comedy Hour" hasn't caught on at all.

Rhodes Responds To Applause With 'Not A Candidate'

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—As former Gov. James Rhodes stepped up to the podium Tuesday night, some 300 members of the Columbus Industrial Association gave him a standing ovation.

"Save your enthusiasm," Rhodes told the group. "I'm not a candidate."

Many state officials have said Rhodes, who now heads his own Columbus-based development firm, has begun making a move to run once again for governor in 1974.

In his speech, Rhodes stayed away from party politics, discussing welfare, Abraham Lincoln and vocational education—themes familiar to all who had heard him during his eight years as governor.

19 Persons Killed In Airliner Crash

BOGOTA, Colombia (AP) — All 19 persons aboard a Colombian airliner missing since Saturday were killed when the plane crashed into an 8,000-foot mountain in the Andes, aviation officials reported Monday night.

The wreckage of the plane was spotted Monday on the side of the mountain near the Venezuelan border. Flown by Transportes Aereos del Cesar, the twin-engine turbojet was en route from Bogota to Valledupar, in the northern part of the country.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Following is the Ohio weather summary from the National Weather Service:

Snow tapered off across the state early today after leaving from one to two inches of new cover in central and southern Ohio.

A high pressure area extending from the Canadian prairies to the Ohio Valley continues to dominate the state's weather. A weak low skirting the southern edge of the high produced the overnight snow.

Temperatures at dawn ranged from three below zero at Toledo to highs of 12 at Cincinnati and 13 at Marietta. Just across the Ohio River, Huntington, W. Va., reported 20 degrees.

Temperatures are forecast to become a bit warmer over the next couple of days, although snow is expected again Thursday night or Friday.

FORECASTS

OHIO—Clearing north, variable cloudiness central and south, with a chance of light snow south tonight. Lows zero to 10 north and 10 to 15 south. Fair north, considerable cloudiness south and not quite as cold Thursday. Highs in the upper teens and 20s.

Catholic Newspaper Faces Union Trouble

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The editor of the Columbus Catholic Diocese weekly newspaper says the financial condition of the publication may force him to switch from union to non-union printers.

The Rev. John Geiger estimates the diocese could save from $300 to $500 on each printing of the Catholic Times if the change were made.

OHIO CASH GRAIN

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio Department of Agriculture cash grain prices: No. 2 red wheat unchanged to 1 cent higher, 1.37-1.45, mostly 1.40-1.42; No. 2 shelled corn mostly unchanged, 1.03-1.09, mostly 1.05-1.08; No. 2 oats mostly unchanged, .68-.75, mostly .71-.75; soybeans mostly 2 cents lower, 2.94-3.05, mostly 2.99-3.05.

Phyllis Diller Has $4,000 'Overhaul'

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Comedienne Phyllis Diller has had a $4,000 reconstruction job on her face, but her famous cackle has been left untouched.

Is she abandoning her standard role as a harried housewife?

"Absolutely not," she says. "I'll still project the same image when performing. I'm not deserting the housewife. I'll just be showing her it isn't a sin to look better."

NEW YORK (AP) — NBC's early Valentine for this season was a portrait of young love set to contemporary music. The program, "Love, Love, Love," was "Hall of Fame" special Tuesday night and it tried to be different in a low-key way.

Helen Redy, Mac Davis and a group called Bread sang softly, sadly and romantically about love. Against this background, the cameras wandered far and wide to focus on six young couples, from puppy-love teens to young marrieds, from San Francisco to Philadelphia. There was lots of clutching and kissing, wandering around hand-in-hand and generally, the program had a pleasant quality of innocence about it.

The free form, however, resulted in an hour that was so soothing that after about 30 minutes, it became soporific.

The producer, Bob Banner, used something of the same technique in his first special starring skater Peggy Fleming. The result was a stunning show because its mood material was background for a central core of the exciting skating of the star.

ABC's "Movie of the Week" was another of those pilots for a future series. The show, "Second Chance," seemed to be a woe-filled waste of acting talent. Brian Keith played a successful stockbroker busily building an ulcer to the point he decided to drop out of moneymaking in order to rebuild a Nevada ghost town with people, like himself, who needed a new direction in life.

So far, so good. He populated the place with a former Las Vegas dancer who always wanted to be a teacher; a carpenter and barkeep who had served prison terms; an aging pro football player who wanted to work around horses. Elizabeth Ashley played Keith's city-centered wife; Juliet Prowse was the teacher and Rosey Grier the village blacksmith.

The idea was sort of engaging, but the story wandered off in all directions and towards the end it was so strangely edited, some essential part of the story seemed to be missing.

Midseason time shifts apparently have helped NBC's "Ironside" more than any other show. In the most recent Nielsen ratings, it follows CBS's "All in the Family" and ABC's "Women in Chains," a made-for-TV movie, at the top.

Among the new shows, neither ABC's "Sixth Sense" nor NBC's "Emergency"—both hour-long dramatic shows—picked up much steam. And ABC's anthology type "Comedy Hour" hasn't caught on at all.

Rhodes Responds To Applause With 'Not A Candidate'

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—As former Gov. James Rhodes stepped up to the podium Tuesday night, some 300 members of the Columbus Industrial Association gave him a standing ovation.

"Save your enthusiasm," Rhodes told the group. "I'm not a candidate."

Many state officials have said Rhodes, who now heads his own Columbus-based development firm, has begun making a move to run once again for governor in 1974.

In his speech, Rhodes stayed away from party politics, discussing welfare, Abraham Lincoln and vocational education—themes familiar to all who had heard him during his eight years as governor.

19 Persons Killed In Airliner Crash

BOGOTA, Colombia (AP) — All 19 persons aboard a Colombian airliner missing since Saturday were killed when the plane crashed into an 8,000-foot mountain in the Andes, aviation officials reported Monday night.

The wreckage of the plane was spotted Monday on the side of the mountain near the Venezuelan border. Flown by Transportes Aereos del Cesar, the twin-engine turbojet was en route from Bogota to Valledupar, in the northern part of the country.

Providence Tops Canisius, 69-64

By KEN RAPPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer
You gotta have heart to win basketball games, says Providence Coach Dave Gavitt.
A stiff defense won't hurt, either.
"Courage ... and a tough press saw us through," said Gavitt after his 12th-ranked Friars pulled out a 69-64 triumph over Canisius Tuesday night.
The Friars trailed 64-61 before knocking off eight straight points in the last minute.
"You come from behind on defense," said Gavitt, practically hoarse from yelling throughout the nerve-racking game, "and tonight ... we had the defense."

Iowa also came from behind to upset seventh-ranked Ohio State 80-67 while No. 19 Minnesota was losing to Indiana 61-42 in crucial Big Ten games. The whippings of the two ranked clubs left them locked in a first place tie in the conference.
Marshall, the country's No. 11 team, defeated Samford 92-69 and 13th-pegged Southwestern Louisiana turned back West Texas State 78-67 in other games.
Ernie DiGregorio, Providence's backcourt ace, played most of the game despite a sprained ankle. He keyed the Friars' last-minute blitzing tactics, helping to force numerous Canisius turnovers.

Don Lewis cut the three-point deficit to one with a field goal from close range and Charlie Crawford put Providence into the lead with two free throws.

Then DiGregorio flipped in two more free tosses and Fran Costello added another two points with a layup.
Rick Williams scored 23 points and Gary Lusk added 22 to pace Iowa. Williams' long jumper with 14 minutes left in the second half snapped a 50-50 tie and shot Iowa into the lead for good.

Joby Wright had 23 points for Indiana, but Coach Bobby Knight attributed Indiana's victory to a demon defense.

"This was a nice game to win," said Knight, who refused to shake hands with Minnesota Coach Bill Musselman after the game. "I thought we did a good job defensively. The kids were anxious to play a good game today after beating Michigan State on Saturday. They sure did the job."

Musselman was astounded by Knight's snub.
"He walked off. We didn't talk at all," said Musselman. "I've never refused to shake a coach's hand after my team lost."

Mike D'Antoni hit two field goals in the closing minutes to break open a close game for Marshall and Dwight Lamar delivered 25 points as Southwestern Louisiana eased past West Texas State.

GOLDEN EFFORT — Marie Therese Nadig, 17, of Switzerland, flies to a gold medal in the Women's Downhill ski race at Sapporo, Japan, in the XI Winter Olympic Games.

Basketball Season Nearing Close

With the basketball season drawing to a close, area teams face a full schedule of games this weekend.

Westfall wraps up its season visiting Zane Trace in a Scioto Valley Conference game. Logan Elm hopes to break a 3-game losing streak at East Clinton, also an SVC game. Teays Valley hosts Dublin in Metropolitan League action and hopes to extend a 2-game win record. Laurelville hosts Unio in SVC play. All are Friday games.

Saturday finds Reynoldsburg at Teays Valley and Glouster at Laurelville in non-league action.

Champions have been decided in both the Metropolitan League (Franklin Heights) and the Scioto Valley Conference (Unio).

AFTER Friday's game, Westfall will have two weeks in which to prepare for the tournament opener against St. Charles. And Coach Jeff Bigham will have an opportunity to scout the Cardinals during that period since Logan Elm ends the season facing St. Charles.

Zane Trace won the Ross County League but finished second in the Scioto Valley Conference. Westfall has a 3-14 record for the season. The Mustangs must stop Dave Hammond, the Ross County area leading scorer, to have a chance in the game.

East Clinton has a 5-10 record, their latest loss being to Adena by a 58-55 score on Adena's floor. Logan Elm has its last three games and has a 6-10 record.

In the previous meeting between Teays Valley and Dublin, on the Shamrock's floor, the Vikings got off to a slow start, trailing by 17 points at the end of the first quarter, but battled back to pull within three at the buzzer.

Coach Bob Hoover's squad will be out to avenge that earlier loss. Teays Valley has a 5-10 record for the season.

FRENCH SKIER INJURED — Françoise Macchi, France's top skier, is carried on shoulders of French Coach Jean Beranger after she was injured in a fall in downhill training which put her out of contention in the Winter Olympic competition at Sapporo, Japan.

Teays Valley, Logan Elm Split Junior High Games

The Teays Valley 7th grade Vikings thumped Logan Elm Tuesday night 51-29 to end their season with a perfect 9-0 mark. The Braves bounced back in a later game to edge the Teays Valley 8th grade 39-37.
Joe Rice paced the 7th grade assault with 15 points, Tim Tosca added 14, Willy Marcum nine, Charles Morrison seven, Terry Trego four, Bob Leatherwood and Gregg Cline one each.
Mark Skinner paced the Braves with 20 points.
Teays Valley jumped off to a 16-8 first quarter lead, but the young Braves cut the margin to 22-17 by the half. The Vikings stretched their lead to 36-27 after three periods of play. The game completed the schedule for the Teays Valley 7th graders.

The Vikings and Braves were knotted at 7 each after a cold first quarter of play. Logan Elm held a slim 22-20 edge at the half and increased it to 33-28 after three periods before holding off the Vikings in the final period.
Steve Rawlins paced Logan Elm with 16 markers, Jeff Reichelderfer canned 12 points. Mark Messick and David Barr led Teays Valley with 9 points each, Jeff Cauger added 8, Rusty Rathburn had 6 and David Schiff closed out the scoring with 5 points.
The Viking 8th grade, holding a 2-10 season mark, tangle with Grandview 4:45 p.m. Monday in the Groveport Tournament.

Frank Truitt Sees Hope For 1st KSU Loop Crown

By GEORGE STRODE
Associated Press Sports Writer
If for no other reason, Mid-American Conference basketball history makes Kent State coach Frank Truitt a cautious man.
Kent State is 0-for-19 in its 19 seasons in Mid-American basketball title tries. The Golden Flashes, in fact, never have posted a winning conference season.
That could all change, especially if Kent can win at Toledo

Saturday in its last conference road game of the season.
The Flashes, at 3-2 one-half game behind co-leaders Toledo and Ohio University, play their last four conference contests at home.
Although Truitt shies from any title predictions, the Kent State coach sees a parallel to his team's conference schedule and the one champion Miami had in 1970-71.
The Flashes play five of their six Mid-American tests away from home.

"Miami had the same schedule last year and they did it," Truitt reminded. "We started this season with that thought in mind."
The school twice has posted 6-6 records in Mid-American play. Truitt recalls the most recent one in 1968-69.
"That team won a lot on the road because it was a slower-paced tempo team. At home, it would grow more impatient and not do as well," said Truitt, a former assistant coach at Ohio

State and head man at LSU.
"This group is just the opposite and it's a little quicker. We have a good home team because it excites the crowd," he said.
A tough schedule—none of the first 12 games were on the road—and better balance has the Flashes in contention.
"Even if we don't have that many victories (4-12), our schedule has helped us. Nobody really has beaten us bad except St. Bonaventure," Truitt said.

Iowa Upsets OSU, 80-67; Taylor Notes Speed, Power

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Ohio State Coach Fred Taylor said he wasn't surprised by the aggressive Iowa team that upset the ninth-ranked Buckeyes 80-67 Tuesday night.
"They have a lot of quickness and board power," Taylor said. "Actually we sort of felt we dodged a bullet when we beat Iowa in Columbus."

The Hawkeyes controlled the offensive boards and built up a momentum that Ohio State couldn't overcome.

Iowa's seven-foot junior Kevin Kunnert was so effective against OSU center Luke Witte—outbounding Witte 18-9 and outscoring him by five points—that Taylor took Witte out of the game with seven minutes left to play.

"Kunnert really came to play tonight," said Iowa Coach Dick Schultz. "He controlled the boards, he blocked shots and simply ran Witte into the ground."

Paced by Rick Williams and Gary Lusk with 23 and 22 points, respectively, Iowa came back from a 44-42 halftime deficit to take a 52-50 lead at 14:31 and never trailed again.

Ohio State, meanwhile, could hit only 26 per cent of its shots after intermission.

"Lusk and Williams put an awful lot of pressure on us with their offense," Taylor said. "Iowa blocked so many of our shots—especially late in the last half when we were trying to get back in the game."

The Buckeyes' Allan Hornak, leading scorer in the conference, had 23 points and Witte added 12.

The victory ended a four-game losing streak for Iowa.

Despite the loss, Ohio State remained locked in a tie for first place in the conference with Minnesota, which lost to Indiana Tuesday night. Both have 6-2 league marks.

In another game on the ab-breiated college basketball, scheduled Tuesday night, Ohio University trounced MacMurray 108-69 as Todd Lalich and Tom Riccardi pumped in 17 points apiece.

Cedarville trimmed Mid-Ohio Conference foe Ohio Dominican 79-77 as Lee Eck sank a 16-foot jump shot with four seconds left on the clock.

In an Ohio Conference, game, Otterbein defeated Muskingum 72-61 behind 18-point performances by Dwight Miller and Don Manly.

Elsewhere, it was Hiram 81, Denison 70; Baldwin-Wallace 84, Youngstown State 69; Allegheny 87, John Carroll 80; Cumberland, Ky. 91, Wright State 83.

CW Dumps Aces In 74-70 Game

Canal Winchester caught Amanda Clearcreek in a third period cold spell and held off a furious Ace rally in the final quarter for a home court 74-70 win Tuesday night.

Canal Winchester, second in the Mid State League with an 11-2 mark, came out on top of a high scoring first quarter 23-21, but couldn't stop the Aces in the second period as Amanda Clearcreek took a slim 42-41 lead into the half.

But the Aces, who canned almost 70 per cent of their field goal attempts in the first half, couldn't find the range and Canal Winchester compiled a 60-53 third quarter advantage.

CW guard Mike Gruber provided the scoring punch in the third period as he caught fire for 12 of his 23 points in the quarter on long range jumpers.

The Aces stayed down by 11 at one point in the final period, but fought back to within two points of CW at one point.

The Aces showed balanced scoring against a tough CW 1-2-2 zone defense.

Rex Riddle paced Amanda Clearcreek with 14 points, Mark Garrett and Rod Miller had 13 each, and Dave Kraft and Gary Rainer added 12 points each.

Gruber canned 23 points for CW and 6-foot, 5-inch pivotman

Jim Klamfoth contributed 20 against the Aces.

The loss drops Amanda Clearcreek to 8-5 in the Mid State loop and 10-5 overall.

They travel to Lancaster Friday night to battle with league leading Fisher Catholic.

and board power," Taylor said. "Actually we sort of felt we dodged a bullet when we beat Iowa in Columbus."

The Hawkeyes controlled the offensive boards and built up a momentum that Ohio State couldn't overcome.

Iowa's seven-foot junior Kevin Kunnert was so effective against OSU center Luke Witte—outbounding Witte 18-9 and outscoring him by five points—that Taylor took Witte out of the game with seven minutes left to play.

"Kunnert really came to play tonight," said Iowa Coach Dick Schultz. "He controlled the boards, he blocked shots and simply ran Witte into the ground."

Paced by Rick Williams and Gary Lusk with 23 and 22 points, respectively, Iowa came back from a 44-42 halftime deficit to take a 52-50 lead at 14:31 and never trailed again.

Ohio State, meanwhile, could hit only 26 per cent of its shots after intermission.

"Lusk and Williams put an awful lot of pressure on us with their offense," Taylor said. "Iowa blocked so many of our shots—especially late in the last half when we were trying to get back in the game."

The Buckeyes' Allan Hornak, leading scorer in the conference, had 23 points and Witte added 12.

The victory ended a four-game losing streak for Iowa.

Despite the loss, Ohio State remained locked in a tie for first place in the conference with Minnesota, which lost to Indiana Tuesday night. Both have 6-2 league marks.

Basketball Season Nearing Close

With the basketball season drawing to a close, area teams face a full schedule of games this weekend.

Westfall wraps up its season visiting Zane Trace in a Scioto Valley Conference game. Logan Elm hopes to break a 3-game losing streak at East Clinton, also an SVC game. Teays Valley hosts Dublin in Metropolitan League action and hopes to extend a 2-game win record. Laurelville hosts Unioto in SVC play. All are Friday games.

Saturday finds Reynoldsburg at Teays Valley and Glouster at Laurelville in non-league action.

Champions have been decided in both the Metropolitan League (Franklin Heights) and the Scioto Valley Conference (Unioto).

AFTER Friday's game, Westfall will have two weeks in which to prepare for the tournament opener against St. Charles. And Coach Jeff Bigham will have an opportunity to scout the Cardinals during that period since Logan Elm ends the season facing St. Charles.

Zane Trace won the Ross County League but finished second in the Scioto Valley Conference. Westfall has a 3-14 record for the season. The Mustangs must stop Dave Hammond, the Ross County area leading scorer, to have a chance in the game.

East Clinton has a 5-10 record, their latest loss being to Adena by a 58-55 score on Adena's floor. Logan Elm has lost its last three games and has a 6-10 record.

In the previous meeting between Teays Valley and Dublin, on the Shamrock's floor, the Vikings got off to a slow start, trailing by 17 points at the end of the first quarter, but battled back to pull within three at the buzzer.

Coach Bob Hoover's squad will be out to avenge that earlier loss. Teays Valley has a 5-10 record for the season.

FRENCH SKIER INJURED — Francoise Macchi, France's top skier, is carried on shoulders of French coach Jean Beranger after she was injured in a fall in downhill training which put her out of contention in the Winter Olympic competition at Sapporo, Japan.

Gibson, Leonard Named To Baseball Hall Of Fame

NEW YORK (AP) — "They were two of the greatest players I have ever played with," Roy Campanella said of catcher Josh Gibson and first baseman Walter "Buck" Leonard, the two latest inductees into Baseball's Hall of Fame.

"I'm very proud," said Campy, the former Brooklyn Dodger catcher and himself a Hall of Famer, "mainly because they never anticipated getting into the Hall of Fame. These two fellows rightly deserve the honor."

Gibson, who died at the age of 35 in 1947, was a unanimous selection Tuesday of a nine-man committee which screened stars of the Negro Leagues who were banned from playing in the majors during the height of their career. Leonard received seven votes—the minimum required for election.

Two other players drew a vote apiece—John Henry "Pop" Floyd, a shortstop-first baseman and Willie Foster, a left-handed pitcher.

In the initial election by the special committee last year, the immortal Satchel Paige was enshrined.

Gibson and Leonard will be formally inducted Aug. 7 into the Hall at Cooperstown, N.Y., along with Sandy Koufax, Yogi Berra, Early Wynn, Lefty Gomez, Ross Youngs and Will Harridge, elected earlier this year.

Gibson and Leonard, in their heyday in the 1930s and 40s were the heart of the batting order of the Homestead Grays and were then known as the Babe Ruth and Lou Gehrig of the Negro Leagues.

"They were both tremendous players," said Campanella, confined to a wheelchair for the past 14 years since an auto accident. "Gibson was a great catcher and tremendous hitter. And, he never struck out. He was extraordinary. I can't think of anyone in the majors to compare with him. He was better than any of them."

Hope Classic Contestants Await Agnew

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP) — Arnie's here. And Jack and Lee and Doug and Billy, too. But Spiro is still a question mark.

There has been no announcement on whether or not Vice President Spiro Agnew will compete in the $145,000 Bob Hope desert Classic this weekend.

"We just don't know," said Jack Tutthill, director for the tournament players division of the PGA. "We haven't heard. But we've set up arrangements just in case."

Agnew played in the last two Hope Classics—and his misadventure drew national attention. In 1970 he managed to hit pro Doug Sanders, his playing partner, in the back of the head with a wild shot.

Chaps Beat Utah Stars; Win 102-99

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The Dallas Chaparrals have found that to beat a division-leading team they have to beat it ... and beat it ... and beat it.

The Chaps defeated the Utah Stars 102-99 Tuesday night in an American Basketball Association game. But the Stars, leading the ABA West, didn't die easy.

With Donnie Freeman and Rich Jones leading the way, Dallas took a 31-19 lead after the first quarter. The Stars fought back and led 53-51 at intermission. The Chaps grabbed a 85-76 lead at the end of three periods, then had to fight off a strong Utah surge in the last period.

Willie Wise scored 10 of his 25 points in the fourth quarter to bring Utah within one point with a minute remaining. It was Steve Jones' pair of free throws with two seconds left that finally gave Dallas the game.

Freeman scored 32 points and Rich Jones 18. Zelmo Beaty had 19 for the Stars.

Then last year he hit three spectators with his first two shots. His tee shot on the first hole went dead right—off the toe of the club—into the gallery, glancing off a man's arm and hitting a woman. He teed up another one—and did the same thing, this time hitting only one spectator.

"I think he's going to be playing," Sanders said today before teeing off in the first round of the five-day, 90-hole tournament. "But that's not official."

"I was playing a round with him late last year and I said, 'Mr. Vice President, you've only got five more months to get ready for Palm Springs.'"

"He got this kind of startled look on his face and said, 'Oh, my goodness. It is that close already?'" Sanders has been his playing partner in each of the last two Hope classics, along with Bob Hope and another celebrity.

Newton Falls Wins Cage Contest, 9-6

WARREN Ohio (AP)—Newton Falls scored a field goal after taking the opening tipoff and held on for a 9-6 high school basketball victory over host Champion Tuesday night.

That's right — 9-6.
John Moser of Newton Falls—eighth ranked in the Ohio Class AA—was high scorer with four points. Only five players scored in the contest that saw Newton Falls lead 2-0 at the end of the first quarter, 2-0 at the half, 3-0 at the third stop and then 9-6.

Logan Elm Frosh Win 12th Game

Logan Elm freshmen defeated host school Piketon, 48-28, Tuesday, the 12th win in 13 starts for the young Braves.

The little Braves led 18-7 at the end of the first quarter, 25-14 at halftime, 41-26 at the end of three periods.

Coach Vic Pontius "platoon-ed" his squad and ten players broke into the scoring column, led by Mitch Martin with 14.

Other Braves figuring in the scoring were: Scott Pontius, 10; Joe Stump, five; Matt Martin, Derek Morris and John Seimer, four each; Brian Barr, Don Maxson and Neil Overman, two each; and Gregg Justus, one.

Thursday the freshmen play at Teays Valley, the only team that has beaten them this year.

Jim Dooley To Join Buffalo As Coach

BUFFALO (AP) — The Buffalo Bills' National Football League club announced Tuesday that Jim Dooley will join the club as linebacker coach.

Dooley, 41, formerly was head coach of the Chicago Bears. His coaching career began with the Bears in 1962 after he played for them for 10 years.

Teays Valley, Logan Elm Split Junior High Games

The Teays Valley 7th grade Vikings thumped Logan Elm Tuesday night 51-39 to end their season with a perfect 9-0 mark. The Braves bounced back in a later game to edge the Teays Valley 8th grade 39-37.

Joe Rice paced the 7th grade assault with 15 points. Tim Tosca added 14, Willy Marcum nine. Charles Morrison seven. Terry Trego four, Bob Leatherwood and Gregg Cline one each.

Mark Skinner paced the Braves with 20 points. Teays Valley jumped off to a 16-8 first quarter lead, but the young Braves cut the margin to 22-17 by the half. The Vikings stretched their lead to 36-27 after three periods of play. The game completed the schedule for the Teays Valley 7th graders.

The Vikings and Braves were knotted at 7 each after a cold first quarter of play. Logan Elm held a slim 22-20 edge at the half and increased it to 33-28 after three periods before holding off the Vikings in the final period.

Steve Rawlins paced Logan Elm with 16 markers. Jeff Reichelderfer canned 12 points. Mark Messick and David Barr led Teays Valley with 9 points each. Jeff Canger added 8. Rusty Rathburn had 6 and David Schiff closed out the scoring with 5 points.

The Viking 8th grade, holding a 2-10 season mark, tangle with Grandview 4:45 p.m. Monday in the Groveport Tournament.

"Miami had the same schedule last year and they did it," Truitt reminded. "We started this season with that thought in mind."

The school twice has posted 6-6 records in Mid-American play. Truitt recalls the most recent one in 1968-69.

"That team won a lot on the road because it was a slower-paced tempo team. At home, it would grow more impatient and not do as well," said Truitt, a former assistant coach at Ohio State and head man at LSU.

"This group is just the opposite and it's a little quicker. We have a good home team because it excites the crowd," he said.

Frank Truitt Sees Hope For 1st KSU Loop Crown

By GEORGE STRODE
Associated Press Sports Writer
If for no other reason, Mid-American Conference basketball history makes Kent State coach Frank Truitt a cautious man.

Kent State is 0-for-19 in its 19 seasons in Mid-American basketball title tries. The Golden Flashes, in fact, never have posted a winning conference season.

That could all change, especially if Kent can win at Toledo

Saturday in its last conference road game of the season. The Flashes, at 3-2 one-half game behind co-leaders Toledo and Ohio University, play their last four conference contests at home.

Although Truitt shies from any title predictions, the Kent State coach sees a parallel to his team's conference schedule and the one champion Miami had in 1970-71.

The Flashes play five of their six Mid-American tests away from home.

Polluted Canals Darken Dreams Of Florida Life

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — The dream of owning a waterfront home has turned into a nightmare along parts of Florida's shorelines where conservationists warn sewage-laden canal waters are unfit for bodily contact.

Environmental experts compiled a report for the state after inspecting 40 canals. They found that freshly dug waterways were at first used by residents for boating, swimming and other recreation but soon became repositories for human and industrial wastes, pesticides and fertilizers.

In many canals, boat docks are unused and in disrepair, they observed, and fish are disappearing from the stagnant, algae-choked water.

"Also, a number of waterfront homes have eventually erected high walled fences to block the waters from view and to protect children and pets from straying into the water," said William Barada and William M. Partington Jr., authors of the report.

The Internal Improvement Fund, an agency which oversees sale and development of state lands, funded the study by the Florida Conservation Foundation Inc. of Winter Park.

In Fort Lauderdale, fund director Joel Kuperberg reported the conclusions to the Florida Department of Pollution Control on Tuesday. He urged rigid controls on the development of canals.

Proposals before the pollution board would set minimum standards for construction and design of canals.

The report found that "gross fecal pollution" in some canal bottoms can cause gangrene, tetanus and blood poisoning if washed over untreated cuts.

Sewage buildups have been tremendous in some areas. According to the report, in the Miami area sewage sludge 10- to 12-foot thick has piled up next to outfalls.

Cincy Air Service Cuts Under Fire

CINCINNATI (AP)—Spokesmen for two airlines blame federal restrictions on air routes for decreased service between Cincinnati and Washington D. C.

Complaints of "deteriorating" service were made Tuesday by the Greater Cincinnati Chamber of Commerce and Greater Cincinnati Airport in letters to American Airlines and Trans World Airlines.

The letters said the situation was "a matter of grave concern" and noted that during a five-year period the number of passengers between the two cities increased from 62,290 a year to 75,770 but the daily number of nonstop flights declined from nine to four.

A spokesman for American Airlines, Barney Hugger, agreed that Greater Cincinnati had legitimate complaint.

Hugger blamed the decline on a "lack of competition on the route."

The statement was echoed by a TWA spokesman who said his firm dropped three daily flights because the Federal Aviation Agency insisted TWA service cities west of Cincinnati on return routes. He said the additional stops were not profitable and harmed the firm's competitive position.

3 Elderly Persons Die In Blaze At Cleveland

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Three elderly persons were killed and an elderly man critically injured this morning when fire swept through their two and one-half story frame house on the city's northeast side. Occupants of the first floor escaped injury.

Sixth Battalion Fire Chief Charles Ross identified the victims as Elizabeth Rankin, Hugh McConnell and his wife, Nancy. Ages were not immediately available. The coroner's office said the victims were elderly and believed to be out-of-state residents, possibly from Florida and Kentucky.

In critical condition at Huron Road Hospital was Matthew Armour. His age and home town was also not immediately available.

Ross estimated damage to the house at $10,000. No cause was determined.

Man Under Indictment

MANSFIELD, Ohio (AP) — Rickie Lee Hunt, 24, of Akron was indicted on a second-degree murder charge by the Richland County Grand Jury Tuesday in the Nov. 1 slaying of a fellow inmate at the Ohio Reformatory here.

Hunt is charged with the stabbing death of Fred Don Miller, 28, of Cleveland in the institution's barber shop. Both were serving terms for armed robbery.

Cleveland Job Cuts Proposed

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—A proposal that Cleveland abolish 65 "superfluous" job classifications has been given Mayor Ralph Perk by Finance Director Andrew Putka.

Putka previously recommended to Perk that overtime be abolished for city executives earning more than $12,000 a year and that salaries of 700 workers be reduced to match their current step-up status.

The mayor adopted the proposal on slicing overtime.

Putka said the classification reduction would result in dismissal of 125 employees, many in middle management positions, and save the city $1.25 million a year.

The cabinet level director of port control was the highest position recommended for abolishment.

"The position is obsolete," Putka said. "Already the functions of the job have been assumed by the Cleveland-Cuyahoga County Port Authority."

Perk, who took office Nov. 8, has not filled the post of director of port control. The duties have been assumed temporarily by Gunther Katzmar, commissioner of airports.

Putka said many of the classifications in his proposal are vacant and antiquated. He cited such examples as "head farmer," "elevator operator" and "general storekeeper."

Union Ordered To Conduct New Officer Election

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Local 18 of the International Union of Operating Engineers—which encompasses nearly all of Ohio—has been ordered by the U.S. Labor Department to conduct a new election of officers.

No election date has been set and it may be two months or more before details are worked out. The cost of the election, some $20,000, must be borne by the local, which has about 16,000 members in 86 of Ohio's 88 counties and four counties in northern Kentucky.

Neither John Posschl, Local 18 business manager, nor Charles Rutherford, president, could be reached for comment.

The order gives new hope to a dissident union faction that has tried for years to have the union's election laws declared illegal. Attempts to unseat Posschl and Rutherford have been unsuccessful.

Man Convicted Of Bank Holdup

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — A 22-year-old Cleveland man, elected from the courtroom during his trial last week, was convicted of bank robbery by a U.S. District Court jury here Tuesday.

Judge Robert Krupansky ordered Emanuel Lee Mason elected Friday after Mason had risen twice to complain that he thought the government was conspiring to convict him and refused to be seated and let testimony begin.

Mason was allowed to return Monday after promising not to disrupt the trial any more.

Man Under Indictment

MANSFIELD, Ohio (AP) — Rickie Lee Hunt, 24, of Akron was indicted on a second-degree murder charge by the Richland County Grand Jury Tuesday in the Nov. 1 slaying of a fellow inmate at the Ohio Reformatory here.

Hunt is charged with the stabbing death of Fred Don Miller, 28, of Cleveland in the institution's barber shop. Both were serving terms for armed robbery.

Marysville Guards, Officials Reply To Inmate Charges

MARYSVILLE, Ohio (AP)—Officials and guards at the Ohio Reformatory for Women here got a chance Tuesday to respond to charges leveled at them by inmates.

As was the 90-minute session with inmates a day earlier, the meeting was filmed for later showing on the Avco Broadcasting Corp.'s syndicated Phil Donahue Show.

"Those of us in penology don't pretend we are perfect," said reformatory Supt. Martha Wheeler. "But we have devoted our lives to this work, and it hurts when you are misunderstood and misrepresented."

Among the complaints hurled by the inmates were uneven treatment of inmates, physical and mental brutality, constant suspicion of homosexual behavior, a lack of understanding, preoccupation with rules rather than rehabilitation, and inferior medical treatment.

"We are too busy doing our jobs to spend all our time thinking about who is the homosexual," responded one guard. "We may discourage friendships if we feel that they are unhealthy or negative, but we are merely talking about friendships."

"I have never hit a girl, and I have never seen another guard hit a girl," said another corrections officer. "Sometimes we have to physically carry a girl to max (solitary confinement) in order to get her there."

Concerning medical treatment, one guard said, "The inmates here get better medical attention than I can afford for my own family."

Miss Wheeler said she favors a current thrust toward community-based corrections and a move to urban areas. She emphasized that the female offender is in a unique position in that she too often is lumped together in the statistics with males.

"The rate of return for women is 20 per cent compared with 65 per cent for men," she said.

ing the United Nations.

He professed "a very sober awareness of how great a task" still lies ahead and voiced hope his report will help promote "a solid consensus of American public understanding and support" for his future efforts.

Presidential adviser Henry A. Kissinger in briefing newsmen on the book-length document said "one of the purposes of this report is to have a serious debate about the national purposes, and we would welcome a debate."

Besides listing "the failure of our intense public and private efforts to end the Vietnam war through a negotiated settlement" as his greatest 1971 disappointment, Nixon named these others:

— "A determined year-long effort to prevent a war" between India and Pakistan in which "we did not succeed."

— Inability "to make a breakthrough towards peace" in the Middle East. The 1970 Israeli-Egyptian cease-fire held, but "it did not prove possible to engage the parties in negotiations."

— "In Latin America, we have yet to work out with our friends a solution of the conflict between their desire for our help and their determination to be free of dependence upon us."

— Failure to get sufficient foreign-aid appropriations to match "our expressions of good will with the material assistance which African countries want and need."

— Failure to prevent the United Nations from ousting Nationalist China.

tion approved Tuesday by the Rules Committee.

The Rules Committee entered the picture after the House Education and Labor Committee rejected the administration bill and approved a milder substitute that would provide for shipments of military goods and agricultural commodities while the strike continued.

Under its special powers, the Rules Committee voted 9 to 6 to take the administration bill away from the Education and Labor Committee and bring it to a House vote.

The Rules Committee also made it possible to substitute the precise language of the Senate bill for any version adopted by the House, which would eliminate the need for a conference between the two bodies. The measure then could go directly to the President for his signature.

Rep. Frank Thompson Jr., D-N.J., sponsor of the bill rejected by the Rules Committee, urged Nixon to announce that he would not sign any bill for at least 10 days so the union's ratification process could be completed.

'Superstar' Returns To Columbus

The official touring company of the rock opera, "Jesus Christ Superstar," is returning this month to Columbus by popular demand. It will stage eight performances, beginning Tuesday, Feb. 29 through Sunday, March 5 at Veterans Memorial.

"Superstar" rocked the pop music world with the title song, sung by Judas and released in October, 1969. Recorded by Murray Head, a friend of authors Tim Rice and Andrew Webber, the song was sort of a "trial balloon" sent up by the young writers to test public acceptance of a rock vehicle chronicling the last days of Christ.

The Columbus performances will feature Bruce Scott as Jesus, Carl Anderson as Judas and Holly Lipton as Mary Magdalene.

"Basically," remark the authors, "the idea of our whole opera is to have Christ seen through the eyes of Judas, with Christ as a man, not a god." Their intention was to take no religious stand on the subject, but rather to ask basic, human questions. They purposely avoided any reference to Christ's divinity, choosing to end their story with his death rather than the resurrection.

Performances for the concert version of "Superstar" are 8 p.m. Tuesday through Saturday 7:30 p.m. Sunday and matinee performances Saturday and Sunday beginning at 2:30 p.m. Tickets are available through the Central Ticket Office, 37 N. High St., Columbus, 43215.

"We must be doing something right." Most of the guards agreed that one of the major problems is the fact the public is not concerned about prison conditions. "They would just as soon we lock up all the prisoners and throw away the key."

Polluted Canals Darken Dreams Of Florida Life

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — The dream of owning a waterfront home has turned into a nightmare along parts of Florida's shorelines where conservationists warn sewage-laden canal waters are unfit for bodily contact.

Environmental experts compiled a report for the state after inspecting 40 canals. They found that freshly dug waterways were at first used by residents for boating, swimming and other recreation but soon became repositories for human and industrial wastes, pesticides and fertilizers.

In many canals, boat docks are unused and in disrepair, they observed, and fish are disappearing from the stagnant, algae-choked water.

"Also, a number of waterfront homes have eventually erected high walled fences to block the waters from view and to protect children and pets from straying into the water," said William Barada and William M. Partington Jr., authors of the report.

The Internal Improvement Fund, an agency which oversees sale and development of state lands, funded the study by the Florida Conservation Foundation Inc. of Winter Park.

In Fort Lauderdale, fund director Joel Kuperberg reported the conclusions to the Florida Department of Pollution Control on Tuesday. He urged rigid controls on the development of canals.

Proposals before the pollution board would set minimum standards for construction and design of canals.

The report found that "gross fecal pollution" in some canal bottoms can cause gangrene, tetanus and blood poisoning if washed over untreated cuts.

Sewage buildups have been tremendous in some areas. According to the report, in the Miami area sewage sludge 10- to 12-feet thick has piled up next to outfalls.

Cincy Air Service Cuts Under Fire

CINCINNATI (AP)—Spokesmen for two airlines blame federal restrictions on air routes for decreased service between Cincinnati and Washington D. C.

Complaints of "deteriorating" service were made Tuesday by the Greater Cincinnati Chamber of Commerce and Greater Cincinnati Airport in letters to American Airlines and Trans World Airlines.

The letters said the situation was "a matter of grave concern" and noted that during a five-year period the number of passengers between the two cities increased from 62,290 a year to 75,770 but the daily number of nonstop flights declined from nine to four.

A spokesman for American Airlines, Barney Hugger, agreed that Greater Cincinnati had legitimate complaint.

Hugger blamed the decline on a "lack of competition on the route."

The statement was echoed by a TWA spokesman who said his firm dropped three daily flights because the Federal Aviation Agency insisted TWA service cities west of Cincinnati on return routes. He said the additional stops were not profitable and harmed the firm's competitive position.

3 Elderly Persons Die In Blaze At Cleveland

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Three elderly persons were killed and an elderly man critically injured this morning when fire swept through their two and one-half story frame house on the city's northeast side. Occupants of the first floor escaped injury.

Sixth Battalion Fire Chief Charles Ross identified the victims as Elizabeth Rankin, Hugh McConnell and his wife, Nancy. Ages were not immediately available. The coroner's office said the victims were elderly and believed to be out-of-state residents, possibly from Florida and Kentucky.

In critical condition at Huron Road Hospital was Matthew Armour. His age and home town was also not immediately available.

Ross estimated damage to the house at $10,000. No cause was determined.

Marysville Guards, Officials Reply To Inmate Charges

MARYSVILLE, Ohio (AP)—Officials and guards at the Ohio Reformatory for Women here got a chance Tuesday to respond to charges leveled at them by inmates.

As was the 90-minute session with inmates a day earlier, the meeting was filmed for later showing on the Avco Broadcasting Corp.'s syndicated Phil Donahue Show.

"Those of us in penology don't pretend we are perfect," said reformatory Supt. Martha Wheeler. "But we have devoted our lives to this work, and it hurts when you are misunderstood and misrepresented."

Among the complaints hurled by the inmates were uneven treatment of inmates, physical and mental brutality, constant suspicion of homosexual behavior, a lack of understanding, preoccupation with rules rather than rehabilitation, and inferior medical treatment.

"We are too busy doing our jobs to spend all our time thinking about who is the homosexual," responded one guard. "We may discourage friendships if we feel that they are unhealthy or negative, but we are merely talking about friendships."

"I have never hit a girl, and I have never seen another guard hit a girl," said another corrections officer. "Sometimes we have to physically carry a girl to max (solitary confinement) in order to get her there."

Concerning medical treatment, one guard said, "The inmates here get better medical attention than I can afford for my own family."

Miss Wheeler said she favors a current thrust toward community-based corrections and a move to urban areas. She emphasized that the female offender is in a unique position in that she too often is lumped together in the statistics with males.

"The rate of return for women is 20 per cent compared with 65 per cent for men," she said.

ing the United Nations.

He professed "a very sober awareness of how great a task" still lies ahead and voiced hope his report will help promote "a solid consensus of American public understanding and support" for his future efforts.

Presidential adviser Henry A. Kissinger in briefing newsmen on the book-length document said "one of the purposes of this report is to have a serious debate about the national purposes, and we would welcome a debate."

Besides listing "the failure of our intense public and private efforts to end the Vietnam war through a negotiated settlement" as his greatest 1971 disappointment, Nixon named these others:

— "A determined year-long effort to prevent a war" between India and Pakistan in which "we did not succeed."

— "Inability to make a breakthrough towards peace" in the Middle East. The 1970 Israeli-Egyptian cease-fire held, "it did not prove possible to engage the parties in negotiations."

— "In Latin America, we have yet to work out with our friends a solution of the conflict between their desire for our help and their determination to be free of dependence upon us."

— "Failure to get sufficient foreign-aid appropriations to match 'our expressions of good will with the material assistance which African countries want and need.'"

— "Failure to prevent the United Nations from ousting Nationalist China."

tion approved Tuesday by the Rules Committee.

The Rules Committee entered the picture after the House Education and Labor Committee rejected the administration bill and approved a milder substitute that would provide for shipments of military goods and agricultural commodities while the strike continued.

Under its special powers, the Rules Committee voted 9 to 6 to take the administration bill away from the Education and Labor Committee and bring it to a House vote.

The Rules Committee also made it possible to substitute the precise language of the Senate bill for any version adopted by the House, which would eliminate the need for a conference between the two bodies. The measure then could go directly to the President for his signature.

Rep. Frank Thompson Jr., D-N.J., sponsor of the bill rejected by the Rules Committee, urged Nixon to announce that he would not sign any bill for at least 10 days so the union's ratification process could be completed.

'Superstar' Returns To Columbus

The official touring company of the rock opera, "Jesus Christ Superstar," is returning this month to Columbus by popular demand. It will stage eight performances, beginning Tuesday, Feb. 29 through Sunday, March 5 at Veterans Memorial.

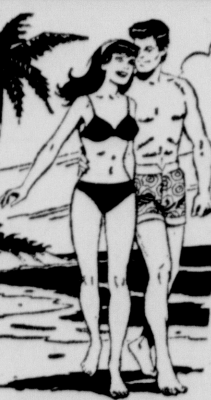

"Superstar" rocked the pop music world with the title song, sung by Judas and released in October, 1969. Recorded by Murray Head, a friend of authors Tim Rice and Andrew Webber, the song was sort of a "trial balloon" sent up by the young writers to test public acceptance of a rock vehicle chronicling the last days of Christ.

The Columbus performances will feature Bruce Scott as Jesus, Carl Anderson as Judas and Holly Lipton as Mary Magdalene.

"Basically," remark the authors, "the idea of our whole opera is to have Christ seen through the eyes of Judas, with Christ as a man, not a god." Their intention was to take no religious stand on the subject, but rather to ask basic, human questions. They purposely avoided any reference to Christ's divinity, choosing to end their story with his death rather than the resurrection.

Performances for the concert version of "Superstar" are 8 p.m. Tuesday through Saturday 7:30 p.m. Sunday and matinee performances Saturday and Sunday beginning at 2:30 p.m. Tickets are available through the Central Ticket Office, 37 N. High St., Columbus, 43215.

"We must be doing something right." Most of the guards agreed that one of the major problems is the fact the public is not concerned about prison conditions. "They will watch these shows and their hearts will bleed, but tomorrow they will forget," said one. "They really don't care what happens in here," said another. "They would just as soon we lock up all the prisoners and throw away the key."

Man Convicted Of Bank Holdup

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — A 22-year-old Cleveland man, ejected from the courtroom during his trial last week, was convicted of bank robbery by a U.S. District Court jury here Tuesday.

Judge Robert Krupansky ordered Emanuel Lee Mason ejected Friday after Mason had risen twice to complain that he thought the government was conspiring to convict him and refused to be seated and let testimony begin.

Mason was allowed to return Monday after promising not to disrupt the trial any more.

Man Under Indictment In Slaying Of Inmate

MANSFIELD, Ohio (AP) — Rickie Lee Hunt, 24, of Akron was indicted on a second-degree murder charge by the Richland County Grand Jury Tuesday in the Nov. 1 slaying of a fellow inmate at the Ohio Reformatory here.

Hunt is charged with the stabbing death of Fred Don Miller, 28, of Cleveland in the institution's barber shop. Both were serving terms for armed robbery.
